CHINA PRESIDENT PLANS TO GO TO MANCHURIA

Vancouver Board Deadlocked On Naming Police Chief

Vote of Two to Two Keeps Commission From Making Choice

Mayor Ill and One Commissioner Absent While Court Rules on His Qualifications; Acting Chief J. Murdoch May Direct Force Till Turn of the Year

Canadian Press
Vancouver, Nov. 19.—An absolute deadlock exists among the police commissioners of Vancouver on the appointment of a chief of police and it is now freely rumored. Acting Chief John Murdoch may continue as head of the department until the end of the year.

For an hour and a half yesterday afternoon the four commissioners debated behind closed doors, but at 5:30 o'clock the meeting adjourned with the board members apparently of the same opinion as before the gathering. Acting Mayor John Bennett, spokesman for the board, merely announced no decision had been reached and that no date had been fixed for another meeting, but that he was hopeful of an early decision.

TWO AGAINST TWO
From sources close to the situation, however, it was stated to-day the commissioners had divided two against two on the appointment. The acting mayor and Commissioner A. C. J. Weeks, it was stated, were unwavering in their support to make permanent the appointment of Acting Chief Murdoch.

Commissioner William Cornfield was in favor of appointing Chief John Cameron of New Westminster, and in that attitude was guessed to be supporting the views of Mayor Louis D. Taylor, ill in St. Paul's Hospital, Commissioner C. E. Mahon favored Inspector George Sutherland of the city force. Then Mr. Cornfield, realizing the appointment of Mr. Cameron could not obtain the support of the whole board turned to give his support to Inspector Sutherland, so it stood two to two. Neither pair would meet the desires of the other, however, and the subject reached an impasse, which to-day appeared unbreakable.

HIS TALKS WITH HOOVER APPROVED BY MUSSOLINI

DINO GRANDI

Washington, Nov. 19.—Premier Mussolini, told by Minister Grandi of Italy by transatlantic telephone from Rome to-day that he was "highly pleased" with the progress of the minister's conversations with President Hoover. Signor Grandi had postponed a talk with Secretary of State Stimson to talk with Premier Mussolini in Italy.

GEN. PERSHING IN HOSPITAL

Washington, Nov. 19.—General John J. Pershing to-day was in the Walter Reed Hospital, receiving treatment for a slight cold. The seventy-one-year-old former commander of the United States in the Great War is in no danger, according to hospital attaches. It was thought advisable for him to enter the hospital on account of foggy weather now prevailing in Washington.

TWO OTTAWA CITIZENS LOSE LIVES IN FIRE

Burned to Death in Rooms on Fourth Floor of Building Housing Cafe

Canadian Press
Ottawa, Nov. 19.—Trapped in their rooms on the top floor of a block on B-1 street here, two men, Aristide Bonome and Joseph Clement, met death early this morning when fire destroyed the building.

Ernest Lattion, twenty-four, escaped from the top floor as flames beat around the exits. He suffered severe burns and cuts.

For several hours it was thought the men had escaped, but shortly before 9 o'clock firemen searching the ruins discovered the bodies.

Two firemen were injured. Fireman Stanley Lough crashed through from the third to the second floor of the burning structure. He was not seriously hurt, and did not require hospital treatment.

The ground floor of the building housed the French Cafe, which was owned by Bonome and Lattion. The first floor was being fitted out as a banquet hall and the two upper floors were used as living quarters.

After sweeping through the cafe building, leaving nothing but flames, swept walls, the fire spread to the adjacent limited structure, where several firms suffered heavy damage before the firemen gained control.

The property losses, it is estimated, will aggregate $100,000. Bonome, who was sleeping on the fourth floor, was awakened by his partner, but is believed to have returned to his room after making his way to an exit. Clement, who was the cafe chef, was also in bed asleep and was burned to death.

MURDERS AND SUICIDE
Dennison, Ohio, Nov. 19.—Thomas Wheeler, thirty-four, a Pennsylvania Railroad brakeman, shot himself to death late yesterday evening as police officers closed in on him to arrest him for the double slaying of a few hours earlier of Mr. and Mrs. Russell C. Scheidigger.

SIX OF SEVEN TRANSPORTATION INQUIRY BOARD MEN NAMED

Canadian Press
Ottawa, Nov. 19.—Personnel of the commission which will inquire into railway problems throughout Canada is practically completed, it is understood. The body will be composed of seven members.

With Mr. Justice L. P. Duff of the Supreme Court of Canada as chairman, other members of the commission will likely be L. P. Loree, president of the Delaware and Hudson Railway system; Sir Joseph Flavelle of Toronto, Beaudry Leman of the Canadian Bankers' Association, Montreal; Lord Asquith, chairman of the Hudson's Bay Company; and a prominent citizen of the Maritime Provinces, whose name may be decided on later to-day.

GRAIN DIVERSION
Winnipeg, Nov. 19.—"With conditions what they are, to me it is a situation bordering on a national tragedy which involves diversion to foreign territory and foreign ports of Canadian traffic to the value of $1,000,000 a day," Cal. E. C. Phinney, president of the Halifax Harbor

"Things Moving Fast" Says Dawes of Steps In League Circles On Manchuria

CANADA SURELY WORKING BACK TO PROSPERITY

Improvement, Though Gradual, Will Be Noted in New Year, Says G. W. Allan

Mixed Farming in Northern Sections of Prairie Provinces Steadily Expanding

"I have the most profound faith in Canada, in its resources and its people, and believe that the country will gradually work its way back to a condition of prosperity sooner than other countries," said George W. Allan, M.A., K.C., chairman of the Canadian committee of the Hudson's Bay Company, and one of the best-posted men in the country, when interviewed at the Empress Hotel to-day.

He is in Victoria with Mrs. Allan to escape the rigors of the prairie winter and plans to spend some time here. "I can only recommend what any country needs in lean years and that is—hard work, economy, clear thinking and wise action," he said in suggesting a remedy for the present conditions. "In making her come-back, however," (Concluded on Page 2)

HIS LEADERSHIP OF CHINA TAKES HIM TO MANCHURIA

CHIANG KAI-SHEK
President of the Nanking Government

Canadian Press
Nanking, Nov. 19.—Chiang Kai-shek, president of the Nanking government, to-day announced he would proceed immediately to Manchuria.

His announcement brought to a high pitch of excitement delegates to the Fourth National Kuomintang Congress, now meeting here to patch up the Nanking government's relations with the Canton insurgents and before whom he was speaking.

"I must fulfill my duty and my obligations to the Kuomintang," he said, "and prove my loyalty to my country." On hearing his declaration the delegates arose in silent tribute to the President.

He did not announce the details of his plans or when he would leave.

"MOVING FAST"

Associated Press
Paris, Nov. 19.—United States Ambassador Charles G. Dawes, who has been conferring with leaders of the League of Nations Council regarding the Manchurian dispute, talked this morning with Dr. Alfred Soe, the Chinese member, and it was reported the United States was ready to join a concerted international move to get Japan to withdraw her Manchurian troops.

"Things are moving fast," Ambassador Dawes said after Dr. Soe had left his hotel. He declined to amplify that statement, but it was known he had been in communication with Washington and that both he and his government were deeply interested in Manchurian developments.

It was expected Japanese would talk with Aristide Briand, chairman of the League Council, this afternoon and that the Council would ask Ken-ichi Toshiyama, the Japanese representative, to present his views on the declaration he made yesterday regarding Japan's demands.

NO OFFICIAL STATEMENTS

Washington, Nov. 19.—Ambassador Dawes has not committed the United States to join in concerted international action to get Japan to withdraw its troops in Manchuria, so far as is known here.

Under-secretary of State Castle to-day told newspapermen in a conference that Secretary Stimson believed the Manchurian situation was such that it schedule.

Lost Job Last Week—Fortune Looms Now

P. E. Dare, Victoria Painter, Sure of Between $5,000 and $10,000 on Irish Sweep

Will Win $125,000 If His Horse Comes First in Manchester Handicap

P. E. Dare, an unemployed painter living in rooms at 715 Yates street, who up to a week or so ago was employed in the B.C. Electric Railway Company's car barns, but was let out because, unlike many of his fellow employees, he was unmarried, received a telegram from Dublin yesterday congratulating him on drawing a horse in the Irish Free State Handicap sweepstake, to be run in Manchester Saturday week.

If Mr. Dare's horse, Strophon the Second, with the sweepstake number B-B-A-76203, comes in first, the local man will profit to the extent of $30,000, which at present sterling's quotation of 44.25 in Montreal to-day, would amount to over $135,000. Second prize is $15,000 ($63,000), and third prize $10,000 ($42,000).

SURE OF $5,000
Drawers of horses in the Manchester Handicap share $35,000 between them, and at this rate Mr. Dare is estimated to have over $5,000 safe in his pocket already.

By a peculiar coincidence, it was a B.C. Electric Railway Company employee, Percy Thompson, who drew a horse in the last Irish Handicap Derby sweep and got $4,061. This morning Mr. Dare told a reporter of The Times he expected more than this, because he had been told 3,000,000 more tickets had been sold for next Saturday week's race than for the Derby. One authoritative estimate places the value of a starter at $10,000.

Mr. Dare, who had been in the employ of the B.C. Electric Railway Co. for twenty years after his arrival from England, was four years overseas in the Ambulance Corps. He enlisted (Concluded on Page 2)

Aged Woman In West Vancouver Fatally Injured

Paris, Nov. 19.—France and Germany came to a complete agreement to-day on calling the advisory committee provided under the Young Plan to consider revision of the reparations schedule.

TO CRITICIZE CUT IN RELIEF

Limitation of Saanich Unemployment Projects to $50,000 Causes Surprise

"There will certainly be some very plain speaking at this evening's session of the municipal council," forecast Reeve William Crouch of Saanich this morning, in commenting upon an announcement by Hon. W. A. McKenzie, through the newspapers, of reduction of approved Saanich unemployment relief programs from $75,000 to $50,000.

"No intimation of this reduction had been given either to me personally or to the municipality. We had no idea any such reduction was being contemplated," Reeve Crouch said. When the municipality temporarily halted all relief work, on November 6, the expenditures then made totaled more than $30,000.

A remarkable point in connection with the flat of restriction is the comparatively small sum which the province will contribute. Of the $50,000 expended, wages amounted to $24,000. The Federal Government was responsible for repayment of $15,000, the municipal taxpayers provide $9,000 and the provincial treasury is pledged to repay $6,000, or one-fourth of the labor cost. Saanich has financed relief work by bank loans, no government payments having yet been received.

SCHEDULE SLASHED
The Saanich programme was prepared on a basis of expenditure of $125,000 during the winter months. Approval had been received as to the first $75,000 unit of the projected scheme, as being sufficient to carry the municipality along until February.

For two weeks the council has been convinced that little chance existed of getting the second increment and it was that fact which caused cancellation of the programme.

Ottawa Ignores City's Plea; Second Wire Sent TO CRITICIZE CUT IN RELIEF

Relief Situation Critical as Federal Minister Silent on Programme Cut

Other Municipalities Suffer With Victoria; $500,000 Required Here

Ottawa was still silent to-day on the city's demand for redress on the slicing of its relief work programme from $300,000 to $200,000.

Up to noon no reply had been received to Mayor Anson's wire to Senator Gideon Robertson, Minister of Labor, and the Mayor followed up with another telegram, stressing the urgency of the situation which jeopardizes the work of 600 men in Victoria.

An announcement from Hon. W. A. McKenzie, chairman of the unemployment committee of the cabinet, confirms the Mayor's prior information that the city's programme has been cut by one-third. Meanwhile the city has embarked on a scheme which would ultimately involve expenditure of $500,000, half to be provided by the federal government and a quarter by the provincial government.

The telegram sent by the Mayor this morning emphasizes the pressing need for help. It reads:

"Would appreciate a very much reply to my wire of seventeenth as matter is extremely urgent. Present and future work of 600 men jeopardized by latest information indirectly received with reference to our programme of unemployment work. Would also be glad to receive government's endorsement of entire programme which was arranged and submitted on request of two governments to deal with national problem."

Failure to receive a reply to his wire of last Tuesday, dispatched directly from a meeting of the City Council, resulted in the necessity of a second wire. Apparently Ottawa ignored the first communication.

WANT WHOLE AMOUNT

As pointed out in the Mayor's message, even the $500,000 plan authorized (Concluded on Page 2)

Canada Now Looking to Liberals to Show Way to Prosperity, Declares King

Bennett Government Has Failed, Liberal Association of Nova Scotia Is Told By Party's Dominion Leader

Halifax, Nov. 19.—"As never before the call to Liberals is being renewed to-day to prepare themselves for the task which has been theirs in years gone by—the task of bringing Canada out of the depression in which she has been suffering into the prosperity which has been hers under Liberal rule."

In the words above Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, leader of the Liberal Party of Canada, concluded a speech here late yesterday afternoon in which he expressed the conviction that "the real solution of the unemployment problems was trade," and that tariff policies of the Bennett government had brought "neither trade nor revenue."

Speaking of the National Service Loan to be floated, he said: "We are told it is to be largely for unemployment relief. This year it (the deficit) will exceed $100,000,000. Some of this loan will go to meet it. I wish the government would drop its hypocrisy and call things by their proper names. This is a loan to make good the deficits of the Bennett government. It is a hard times loan."

FEAR FOR YACHT LONG OVERDUE AT PORT OF LISBON

New York, Nov. 19.—The schooner yacht Westward was nine days overdue at Lisbon, Portugal, to-day, causing deep concern to relatives of the socially prominent Mr. and Mrs. Gordon McAlpine of New York, who are aboard. Others on the craft are Michael Cumberland, son of a retired British admiral, and Erasmus Jacobson, a sailor.

The yacht sailed from Gloucester, Mass., July 18. It left St. Malo, France, for Lisbon, October 30. The Navy Department has asked all craft in the North Atlantic to be on the lookout for the yacht.

Rides On Bumper For Thirty Feet After Being Hit

Miss Gladys Steen Receives Minor Injuries in Mishap in Heart of City; Seized Headlight and Carried.

Carried for about thirty feet on a car bumper after being struck, Miss Gladys M. Steen, 849 Fort Street, escaped with only minor injuries in a mishap at the corner of Fort and Douglas Streets yesterday evening at 11:35 o'clock.

Rev. W. A. Guy of the Oak Bay United Church was the driver. He was proceeding south on Douglas Street, it was raining at the time and visibility was poor, despite the street lights. Miss Steen, who had just left Terry's Drug Store, where she is employed, hurried across Douglas Street toward Campbell's Drug Store, shielding herself from the rain, and apparently did not see the approaching car.

Although there were a number of people standing on the corner waiting for the last street car, few saw the accident. Mr. Guy, who was proceeding at a moderate rate of speed, brought his car to a stop. Miss Steen had seized the headlight and prevented herself from being crushed by the wheels.

Miss Steen was picked up by the bumper of Mr. Guy and a passerby for the last street car, she said. Mr. Guy drove Miss Steen home, where she was resting to-day. Her right leg was bruised and her ankle strained.

BY-ELECTION IS BLOW FOR HENRY

Liberal Elected to Represent South-Wellington in Ontario Legislature

Canadian Press
Guelph, Ont., Nov. 19.—Rolling up a substantial majority in the rural sections and holding his opponent to a comparatively slight lead in the city of Guelph, D. Paul Munro, Liberal, yesterday was elected to the Ontario Legislature for South-Wellington. He had a majority of 258 over W. P. Gamble, Conservative. It was the second time in nearly thirty years the constituency had gone Liberal.

The by-election was necessitated by the death a few weeks ago of Lincoln Ferguson, who was Provincial Secretary in the Ferguson administration. The vote was: Munro, 7,269; Gamble, 7,011. In the 1929 general election, Mr. Gamble, who represented the riding from 1923 until his death, had a majority of 1,489 over Beecher Parkhouse, Progressive.

Mitchell F. Hepburn, M.P. for West Elgin and Ontario Liberal leader, who waged a strenuous fight in the campaign, was not present.

MAN DIES AFTER BEING IN TORMOR FOR THIRTY DAYS

Louisville, Ky., Nov. 19.—A victim of sleeping sickness for thirty days, Dr. J. Berresheim, fifty-year-old Louisville surgeon, died here to-day.

Most victims of the malady die within two weeks after contracting it, but Dr. Berresheim had been kept alive for the last 300 hours by regular injections into his veins of a fluid containing dextrose, which served in place of food.

CANADA NOW LOOKING TO LIBERALS TO SHOW WAY TO PROSPERITY, STATES KING

Liberal Association, frequently was punctuated with applause and was followed by a prolonged ovation to the speaker.

Visits St. John

To-day Mr. King left for St. John. He will be the guest this evening of members of the New Brunswick Liberal Association's executive at a dinner.

This is the Liberal leader's first journey to the Maritime provinces since the last general election campaign.

CHARACTERISTIC APPEAL

During his speech Mr. King said the Bennett administration had called for a free hand, and the opposition had avoided obstructive tactics. "The demand for a free hand is characteristic of Tory governments," said Mr. King. "We were given plenty of opposition in 1931."

Mr. King called for organization among Liberals. Education along lines of policy should not be left to the Parliamentary representatives, nor should the party be left to the period of a general election, he said. "Twice in the last half-century the Liberal party had brought Canada from the depths of depression, in 1896 and 1921."

MUST CHECK MINISTRY

The opposition chief said did not advocate an attempt to force a general election. "But this government must be brought to its senses. We must get the ship of state headed in the right direction."

GIRL DESCRIBES MURKIN FIGHT

Seattle Travelers Were in House Struck By Bullets During Battle

Associated Press
San Francisco, Nov. 19.—The first United States citizen to return from Mukden after passing through the terror of the Japanese investment of the city arrived in San Francisco yesterday evening aboard the liner President McKinley.

They were Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Cochran of Seattle and their nineteen-year-old daughter, Vilma, who gave a vivid description of the events of the night of September 18, when actual warfare broke out and the entire city was threatened with destruction.

"We were staying with my brother, L. M. Cochran," said Miss Cochran. "He is on the staff of the National City Company in China, is married and has a house in the foreign settlement, so we stayed with him."

"We knew there was trouble all along the railroad zone, of course, and we knew there was a possibility the Japanese would attempt to oust the Chinese from Mukden, but we had no idea it was coming so soon."

"We heard distant firing late in the evening, but thought it was only sniping near the rail head. Then it grew louder and louder, and the roar of rifles and field guns became terrific."

"Although quite a way from the city proper, which was the object of the Japanese attack, and in a quarter supposed to be immune from danger, the missiles flew close to our house and several bullets struck it."

"I thought daylight would never come. But finally light broke and the firing dwindled and died to silence to our utter relief. Then we found the Japanese had taken their objective and thereafter everything was quiet. With all the bombardment I believe very few were killed in the actual fighting."

"After the first battle there was very little trouble and we stayed on for nearly a month, leaving there October 14. It is pretty good to be back in the United States. 'Wars aren't so nice when you get close to them.'"

HOPE THE HUDSON BAY ROUTE WILL AID MARITIMES

Canadian Press
Toronto, Nov. 19.—The government plans to connect eastern and western Canada through Churchill and the Hudson Bay route to the Atlantic.

The plan, designed to become operative next year, would provide for the shipment of cattle from the west to Great Britain through Churchill, and coarse grains from the northern districts of the prairie provinces to the Maritimes by the Hudson Bay route, he declared here yesterday evening.

"On the other hand, the Maritimes have many products—the prairie provinces do not have and every effort is being made to connect, as far as possible, the east and western parts of Canada by this cheap water route by an exchange of products that will result in a mutual advantage to both," the minister said.

CATTLE EXPORTS
"Now that cattle can no longer be shipped to the United States, we have endeavored and are endeavoring to build up an industry among our own farmers of feeding and finishing our own cattle that hitherto were shipped to the United States. It is hoped this year that some of these finished cattle will be shipped to Great Britain through Churchill as many of the western feed lots will be on the twenty-four-hour runs from the port. This will be a big saving to farmers on shrinkage, shipping charges and other overheads."

"Further in this connection, I have been in touch with the Ministers of Agriculture in the Maritime Provinces with a view to using the Hudson Bay route to offset their disadvantage of domestic freight rates. We hope in 1932 to bring cargoes of coarse grains which are grown cheaper in the north of the western provinces through the Hudson Bay route for delivery in the Maritimes."

"In addition I understand there may be a demand for feeders and stockers to be brought to the Maritimes for finishing and shipping out through the Maritime ports for the English market at a time when that market is at its highest."

SEVEN MEN ARE SENTENCED TO JAIL IN ALBERTA

Canadian Press
Drumheller, Alta., Nov. 19.—Seven alleged Communists, convicted on various charges arising out of a disturbance here August 22 were sentenced to one and two-year terms by Mr. Justice Ives in the Alberta Supreme Court here yesterday afternoon.

The seven convicted were: John O'Sullivan, Calgary, an unsuccessful Communist candidate for the City Council in the municipal election yesterday; Angus McNeill and Alex Ledanyi of East Coulee; Steve McDonald, Louis Haner and Patrick Jenahan of Newcastle, and William Kabanuk of Wayne.

Ledanyi was sentenced on three charges, of carrying concealed weapons, going to a meeting with weapons on his person and of being a member of an unlawful assembly. On the first charge, based on large stones he was carrying in his pockets, he was sentenced to two years. On the other charges he was sentenced to three months and one year, respectively, the sentences to run concurrently.

Kabanuk was sentenced on two charges: For assaulting Constable Radcliffe of the Alberta Provincial Police, he was given a two-year term, and on a charge of unlawful assembly he was sentenced to one year, to run concurrently with the two-year term.

The other five were convicted of being members of an unlawful assembly and were each sentenced to one year in jail.

William Boychuk of Wayne, arraigned on a charge of assaulting Sgt. Skelton of the Alberta Provincial Police, was acquitted, but was listed to-day to face a charge of being a member of an unlawful assembly.

EINSTEIN CLEARS UP POINTS OF HIS NEW UNIVERSE THEORY

By Tom Wilhelm, Associated Press Correspondent
Berlin, Nov. 19.—Professor Albert Einstein yesterday expounded his new theory combining the laws of gravitation and electricity in a workable formula and disclosed that this latest brain child brings somewhat closer to perfection the theory he announced first sixteen years ago.

He cleared up some of the misunderstanding which clouded earlier reports of a "fifth dimension," admitting the new dimension was fictional, evolved solely for theory and then abandoned. Dr. Einstein based his calculations on the idea that it was impossible for space to have two independent properties.

"If none is able to prove they are independent and none stands a chance to prove their independence," he said, "it is taken for granted such independence is non-existent."

Using the example of an elevator, he explained acceleration and gravity had the same effect. "When the elevator starts you think if you have no experience with elevators, 'gravity is getting stronger,'" he said, "and no experiment which can be performed in the car can tell you whether you are right or wrong. If no known experiment exists showing what part of the force is due to gravity and what part is due to acceleration, there is no sharp distinction between the two. This thought leads to the conviction that our four dimensional space is a little curved, with gravity exactly explained by the curvature."

"Usually when we think of a curved line or a curved surface we have in mind its relations to the space around it. If our four dimensional world is to be curved too, do we have to have a bigger world for it to lie in? No, we do not."

He said the equation of space curvature could be written in a few seconds, but it was necessary to provide an extra term in the space equation of motion—so electro-magnetism was provided.

"But it has just been dragged in," he continued, "and it has not been made to feel at home. It is hard to regard that as unified."

FARM POLITICAL CONFERENCE IS BEING ARRANGED

Agriarians From B.C. Coast to Quebec Invited; Says Saskatchewan Leader
Canadian Press
Brandon, Man., Nov. 19.—An inter-provincial political farm conference to correlate agrarian opinions from Quebec to the British Columbia Coast is being planned, according to A. J. Macaulay, president of the United Farmers of Canada (Saskatchewan section). Referring to a meeting yesterday evening to the United Farmers of Manitoba convention here, he said it would probably be held early next January.

The proposed conference of agriculturists, he said, would be a political meeting designed to set up a national fiscal policy for agriculture. He believed it probable each of the six provinces from Quebec West would be represented by a farm party delegate, making possible full discussion of the agrarians' stand.

DEBT ADJUSTMENT
Yesterday evening's session of the Manitoba farmers' convention was the busiest, most opinionated since the beginning of the annual meeting. The delegates voted to ask more embracing powers for the Manitoba debt adjustment board as a step to aid 40,000 Manitoba farmers burdened by unpayable debts. They eagerly questioned Prof. W. F. Osborne of the University of Manitoba on his recent trip to Russia. And they heard A. J. Macaulay urge "a single government for the prairie provinces."

As the meeting this forenoon entered its wind-up day, the attendance was listed as 200 delegates, almost an exact parallel of last year's gathering at Portage la Prairie. Not a prominent member of the organization was missing for the important policy discussions and elections of officials during the day.

In the women's section, Mrs. S. E. Gee Curtis of Neepawa was re-elected to the presidency by acclamation for an eighth term. Mrs. L. Johnson, Arbogast, was chosen vice-president.

QUEBEC EDUCATION OUTLAY
Quebec, Nov. 19.—The financial statement of the superintendent of education for the province of Quebec, tabled yesterday by Hon. Athanasie David, Provincial Secretary, shows that during the year ended June 30, 1931, the province expended the sum of $8,930,541.11.

There has been a lack of normal fall precipitation generally in Canada and at November 1 the situation was unfavorable for the 1932 crop, says the monthly review of the Bureau of Statistics. The dry weather, however, facilitated the completion of the 1931 harvesting operations.

In the United States, too, unseasonable climatic conditions have caused apprehension. In Saskatchewan and Alberta during October precipitation was much below normal, with the greatest deficiencies in areas where wheat production is most specialized. In Manitoba, the precipitation was slightly above normal. The dry condition of the soil in large prairie areas during the fall has brought new attention to the possibilities of a serious damage from grasshoppers and outworn next year. Wide areas were affected at the close of the 1931 season and warnings of the danger next spring have been issued by the entomological branch of the Dominion Department of Agriculture.

But there is the long winter and early spring. Given a heavy snow blanket and abundant early spring rains, a brighter outlook may prevail at the start of the 1932 sowing season.

PRAIRIE FARMS STATED TO NEED MORE MOISTURE

Ottawa, Nov. 19.—What are the crop prospects for 1932? The future is occupying the minds of agriculturists and statisticians.

THE LEAGUE SHOULD ACT

WHAT NEWS OF THE DELIBERATIONS of the Council of the League of Nations is allowed to creep out does not tell the world very much about what is going on behind the scenes in Paris. We are told to-day that the United States is ready to join a concerted international move to get Japan to withdraw her Manchurian troops. This development, however, is merely a report. All that United States Ambassador Dawes would say after his conference with members of the League's Council was that "things are moving fast." They are moving fast in Manchuria, too.

China's position was made clear to-day by a statement from Dr. Sze, who said his country was ready—prior to appealing for the penalties of Article 16—to invoke Article 15 of the Covenant. Article 15 provides for the publication of the facts of any dispute by the League, with its recommendations, and for referring the dispute to the League Assembly itself. Article 16 provides that should any member of the League resort to war in disregard of its covenant, it shall be deemed to have committed an act of war against all other members of the League; "which hereby undertake immediately to subject it to severance of all trade or financial relations, the prohibition of all intercourse between their nationals and the nationals of the Covenant-breaking state, and the prevention of all financial, commercial or personal intercourse between the nationals of the Covenant-breaking state and the nationals of any other state, whether a member of the League or not." This is the last step before invoking military sanctions for which this Article provides.

The act of war has been committed and the developments of the last forty-eight hours indicate that unless the League shall take decisive action without delay, there will be a general flare-up with consequences the seriousness of which may well be imagined. No matter how Japanese statesmen may argue, there is ample proof that the troops of Japan have invaded territory over which that country has no jurisdiction. She has carried out this movement with serious loss of life, and has announced that she does not propose to withdraw until China has conceded demands which it is considered in some quarters involve Chinese sovereignty in Manchuria. The case for action by the League could not be clearer. It can either end the trouble or end itself and leave the world to face the chaos that undoubtedly would result.

Nor is it difficult to imagine what might happen if China found herself abandoned by those nations which, in common with herself, solemnly subscribed to the Covenant of the League and the Kellogg-Briand pact. She almost certainly would turn to Russia for assistance—and if Russia seized the opportunity thus presented, as she likely would, her sphere of influence would be exercised over China with her 450,000,000 people; with prospects of a similar extension to India. These are some of the possibilities of the situation which will arise if the League of Nations does not live up to its pledges.

MUST BE GIVE AND TAKE

NEWS FROM OTTAWA INDICATES that Hon. H. H. Stevens, Minister of Trade and Commerce, shortly will leave for Honolulu to meet New Zealand's Minister of Finance for the purpose of a tentative discussion of the subject of a new trade treaty.

We are reminded by the dispatch in which this announcement is made that the great difficulty in the way of a reciprocal trading agreement between Canada and the southern Dominion is New Zealand butter. This is not the only commodity which New Zealand produces; but it is one of her most important exports. Canada increased the duty on this commodity to eight cents a pound to protect the Canadian dairymen. New Zealand retaliated by putting Canadian manufactured products in the same category as her imports from foreign countries. Preferential rates which had been in operation for many years were withdrawn. Since then a trade worth $36,000,000 a year has declined to almost a shadow of that amount—with Canadian automobile manufacturers and British Columbia paper-mills as the worst sufferers.

It is suggested in quarters close to the government at Ottawa that there is scant possibility of Canada receding very much from its position in regard to New Zealand butter, "as the exchange of communications between Premier Bennett and Premier Forbes indicated some months ago." There are hopes, however, that while this difficulty is a real one, it may be adjusted "on the principle of give and take."

If Canada is to increase her trade, no matter whether it is trade with the Dominions or with foreign countries, the principle of give-and-take will have to be adopted. Unless Mr. Stevens is authorized to recognize this fundamental fact in his conversations with New Zealand's representative, he will not get very far.

APPROACHING THE GREAT

SOUVENIR HUNTERS, ACCORDING TO newspaper dispatches, have already begun to descend on Milan, Ohio, birthplace of Thomas Edison. Bark has been torn from trees about the house in which the inventor was born, and all kinds of loose objects have been carried away. Presently, no doubt, there will be souvenirs for sale, and passing motorists will stop to be photographed in front of the birthplace, and the usual dreary and insane round will be in full swing.

Just how any man in his senses can be gratified to possess a bit of bark from a tree that grew by the house where Edison was born is a trifle hard to understand. But this hunger for trivial mementoes of the great is an old one, and it expresses, however clumsily and cheaply, a very real need.

For human greatness is not such a common thing that we can calmly pass by the places where it has moved. The ordinary mortal knows, as well as anyone else, the greatness of the gulf which separates him from an Edison.

And so, when he gets a chance to touch the skirts of greatness, so to speak, he takes it; and he takes home a bit of bark, or a banal snapshot, or some similar trinket, not because his soul is cheap and undiscriminating but because it is the only way in which he can have some tangible reminder that he was once in the vicinity of a man whose head touched the stars.

In the regular course of events we get precious little to bolster our self-esteem. Signs of greatness are rare, both in ourselves and in our neighbors; and the daily record of human silliness and greed is not apt to be inspiring.

Thus, when we bump up against the earthly trappings of a man who was truly admirable, our impulse is to grab off something—anything, even a pebble or a bit of old cloth—as a keepsake. For it is something more than a visible sign that we have traveled and have seen fine sights. It is a talisman by which we can reassure ourselves that the race to which we belong can, on occasion, produce some magnificent specimens.

OUR EXPORTS

SOME OF THE COMMODITIES THAT will be subjected to Great Britain's anti-dumping legislation have now been named by Rt. Hon. Walter Runciman, President of the Board of Trade, and they include plate and sheet glass, knives, surgical instruments, vacuum cleaners, sewing machines, typewriters, colored cottons, carpets, box calf leather, tanned leather and cobalt oxide. It is announced that these goods have been entering the country in abnormal quantities in recent weeks.

The legislation which will be passed through all its stages before the end of the week confers upon the President of the Board of Trade the power to impose duties to a maximum of one hundred per cent; but not to apply in the case of the commodities involved imported from the Dominions.

The first instalment does not interest Canada or any other Dominion very much. Our chief exports to the Old Country are foodstuffs and certain raw materials. It was on these—principally wheat—that Mr. Bennett demanded a preference last year.

WHO WOULD NOT?

THE MORNING PAPER SAYS THAT under the Mackenzie King regime there was an excessive emigration from the Dominion to the United States, but that now because of the severe depression in the republic citizens from that country are coming to Canada. In other years our contemporary was wont to declare that Canadians went southward because the fiscal policy of the neighboring republic had produced boundless prosperity, and until Canada copied her example the exodus would continue. As a matter of fact, long before last year the balance in the exchange of population between this country and the United States was in Canada's favor, due largely to the prosperous conditions which existed on this side of the line.

But whether Canadians have come from or gone to the north, south, east and west, if there is one thing that is certain in this world it is that everybody in this country would welcome with heartfelt joy a return of the conditions which prevailed in Canada under the government which our contemporary implies was driving Canadians to the United States. And nobody would sing hosanna more loudly than Hon. Simon Tolmie and Hon. J. W. Jones. With the provincial government facing ruinous deficits, and the Dominion government looking toward a shortage of at least $150,000,000, who would not want to swap existing conditions, under Tory rule, for those which prevailed three years ago under Liberal rule, regardless of the number of Canadians who went to or returned from the United States, Europe or Timbuctoo?

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

AT THE CENTRE OF THE ARTS
The Toronto Star

Toronto's board of control commissioned a Toronto artist to report on the condition of the oil paintings hanging in the city hall. The acting secretary of the board failed to advise the artist that the report was expected gratis. The report has arrived, but the man who made it has not been paid. Mayor Stewart is reported as saying: "It was a mistake of the acting secretary, and if there is to be any charge he can pay it out of his own pocket."

The incident makes Toronto look insufferably cheap. No reputable business concern would think of repudiating a contract because of an error made by one of its employees.

In the first place, an artist is just as much entitled to pay for his technical knowledge as a bricklayer is for his skill in laying bricks, or an accountant for his skill in auditing. If the board wanted a report on the city hall paintings, it should have been willing to pay the price.

WILLY-NILLY WIRELESS
The Manchester Guardian

The Rochdale Town Council must be praised for refusing a proposal to install "community wireless" in their midst. A more horrible thing it would be hard to imagine. A loud speaker next door is bad enough—especially when the neighbors go away and leave it still braying behind locked doors; and one has excruciating memories of an enthusiast who used to pick up American stations in the small hours, when Europe had mercifully closed down.

But these are simply the overflows from domestic supplies, not deliberately aimed at the community. They differ from "community wireless" as a man talking in an audible voice to his friends differs from an orator hallooing at the street corner. There is a hapless Belgian resort, whose governors have installed a superlatively loud speaker on a crag overlooking the town; it discourses music all day to willing and unwilling ears alike.

A THOUGHT

For our rejoicing is this, the testimony of our conscience, that in simplicity and godly sincerity, not with fleshly wisdom, but by the grace of God, we have had our conversation in the world, and more abundantly toward you.—II Corinthians 1:12.

The expression of truth is simplicity.—Seneca.

Loose Ends

Mr. Hoover says something pious
—the law is once more vindicated—and politics are as mad as ever.

By H. B. W.

PRESIDENT HOOVER, who must keep a whole staff of broken-down evangelists employed in writing his pious statements, has lately said this: "The age in which we live has seen marvelous achievements and we cannot tell what new victories and discoveries lie just ahead of us. But all this brings to human life a problem of its own—the problem of keeping our physical achievements from mastering us and our material possessions from controlling us. And we must depend upon the churches to help men and women everywhere to see that life does not consist in the abundance of things."

THAT IS an easy way for Mr. Hoover to pass the buck to the churches, when obviously it is not their problem at all. The only people who can demonstrate to the world at large that life does not consist in the abundance of things are not the heads of the churches. The only people who can demonstrate that are the people who have an abundance of things. When they begin, by giving away their abundance of things, to demonstrate that life for them does not consist of those things, then the world at large may pause and admit that there is something in the idea. So long as those who have an abundance of things continue to grapple with those things, then the world at large is bound to get the impression that they must be worth grappling. The poor know all about the manifold satisfactions of poverty. They do not need Mr. Hoover and his staff of evangelists to tell them about that. But only the rich can prove to them the emptiness of wealth by giving it away. I see no immediate prospect of these things, and meanwhile we can always blame the churches.

A VANCOUVER commentator remarks that, instead of deporting the convicted Toronto Communists immediately, Canada is going to keep them in jail for years, at great expense to the taxpayers, and then deport them, a manifest waste of money. Those who begin to wonder about the strangeness of the law will find time for little else. I mean to say, it may be good sense to put Communists in jail if they have broken the law, but what can you say of our methods of punishing petty crime? In the police court here every day you will find drunks, speeders and illegal parkers convicted of these several crimes. Thereupon, the law, with an exultant logic, says to the drunk, the speeder or the parker: "Now, then, my dear fellow, this is the law. You must take $10 from you, not only to penalize you but to compensate the taxpayers for the inconvenience of your company. But (and this is the sublime touch) if you should be unable to pay us $10 to compensate the taxpayers, then the taxpayers will put you in jail for thirty days and will keep you at their expense. This will probably cost the taxpayers $50 or so. Thus, under the excellent provisions of the law you have the choice of paying the taxpayers $10 or receiving about $50 from them. The taxpayers are a very reasonable set of people, and the law is the law. You become entangled in it. I should know, because I paid $20 when they caught me—and made no protest beyond four or five newspaper columns."

EVEN THAT is not the crowning absurdity. The crowning absurdity is that the drunk, speeder or parker almost invariably chooses to pay the taxpayers rather than allow the taxpayers to put him in jail. The only explanation of the law is the law. The law becomes entangled in it. I should know, because I paid $20 when they caught me—and made no protest beyond four or five newspaper columns.

THE POLITICIANS are trading these days through the snowdrifts of Columbia, across the glaciers of the Rockies, around old Golden in the search for votes which will elect their man in the Columbia by-election. It is an heroic spectacle. It testifies to the undying spirit of politics in this country. Also, it is quite idiotic. What is the use of the Columbia by-election when you have won it? Who cares about it, except a few politicians in Columbia and a few more across James Bay? Who will hear what is said up in Columbia, except the few hundred voters there, or rather the few score who will brave the wintry blast in order to be warmed by the hot air of the political hustings? No sound but the result of the poll will penetrate the Rockies and the Selkirk and the Coast range and reach these shores; and the result will be the same, whether there is any campaign or not. Still, our provincial Neros fiddle up in Golden while the treasury is burning up quite merrily down here.

A GENTLEMAN who sat in the Legislature for a long time and then occupied one of the most important posts in the public service of this country has just written me on some what similar lines. He says that when he was in politics he used to tell the leaders of his party that only twenty per cent of the voters belonged to that party and twenty per cent to the other party, a total of forty per cent. Sixty per cent, he calculated, belonged to neither and voted as they pleased.

BUT he said, the party leaders on both sides insisted before they were elected and afterwards, on sacrificing everything to please their twenty per cent, even though they antagonized the independent sixty per cent. Whereas, if they had striven to please the sixty per cent by good administration they could afford to lose some of their machine supporters and still win every election, for the simple reason that the public would want them to run its affairs.

SUCH A FAHEY would not have to bother about by-elections up above the snow line. It could let the twenty per cent bother about such things and

For expenditure in Victoria during the coming year the management of the B.C. Electric Railway Company (the nearest approach to a fellow in the world) replies that no party has ever succeeded by such methods. That is true. Because no party has ever tried them.

The fourteenth annual meeting of the Northwest Fruit Growers' Association will be held at Seattle, Wash., on January 16 to 18 next.

Weather forecast—Victoria and vicinity: Easterly and southerly winds, unsettled and cold with rain or sleet.

His Honor "Lionel" Governor Dunsinuir and party returned to the city on Saturday afternoon by the yacht Thistle, after spending an enjoyable time in duck shooting in Pitt Meadows.

On Saturday morning, after a long meeting of the Victoria Lodge No. 191, of the Brotherhood of Boilermakers and Iron Shipbuilders of America the previous evening, all members of this class of labor in the city were notified that unless an eight-hour day was granted with the same pay, $3.50, as at present for nine hours, to start to-day, a strike would be declared this morning.

Capt. J. P. Hickey and the officers on watch at the time of the accident to the steamer Princess Victoria have been cleared from the blame of the stranding of the vessel on October 16 last, by the court of inquiry, composed of Capt. James J. G. Coe and J. Goss.

Jones Gives Assurance Sinking Funds Well Protected to Meet Issues When Due

Bonds of the Government of British Columbia, as to underlying security, meet the theoretical requirements better than any government issue in Canada, said the Hon. J. W. Jones, Minister of Finance, in dealing with the Columbia bonds had been removed from the investment class rating of A and reduced to Baa along with those of Alberta and Saskatchewan. "The price of British Columbia bonds to-day is quoted higher than those of any other province west of the Great Lakes," said Mr. Jones. "No province in Canada has safeguarded its securities like the province of British Columbia. Any bonds we have issued for a period of more than five years will be paid off by sinking funds when they mature. This policy the government has jealously guarded and to-day, in spite of the depression, our sinking fund reserves are in better position than ever before."

The latest quotations on long-term issues from Toronto show Alberta 4½ per cent bonds standing at 81, Saskatchewan 5 per cent bonds at 88, British Columbia 5 per cent bonds at 90.50, Nova Scotia 5 per cent bonds at 92.25, Ontario 5 per cent bonds at 90.50.

CAUTION TO HOUSEHOLDERS

To the Editor:—All householders are advised to guard against possible frost damage during the winter season now upon us.

Be prepared by making weather-proof, as far as possible, all openings under, through or into the house, and protect all exposed waterpipes, taps, etc. Make use of the stop and waste, which will be found where the supply enters the building.

Do not omit to turn on the water in the morning, and open a tap at the kitchen sink to permit the escape of air and so obviate undue noise.

BE ON TIME

To the Editor:—To-morrow (Friday), at the Royal Victoria Theatre, the two Synphonie Orchestras will give two performances.

Mr. Karl Krueger, whose delightful personality charmed Victoria audiences when the orchestra played here last February, will conduct. This may be the last time Victorians will have the pleasure of seeing Mr. Krueger conduct, as Seattle people find it difficult to raise the large sum necessary to keep such a large aggregation of first-class artists together.

The afternoon performance will start at 3.30 o'clock sharp, the evening performance at 8.30 o'clock sharp. We respectfully request all patrons to be in their seats well before the time of starting, not only to prevent congestion at the doors of the theatre, but also for their own sakes, as late comers cannot be permitted to take their seats during the playing of any selection.

THE PARTY SYSTEM

To the Editor:—News items reaching us here from the British Isles, show an ever-growing effort by those in power and the masses to do something to make things better for all. But here in B.C., what do we find? Do we see any united effort to effect economy? Not at all; the politicians still carry on in their old way, telling how good their own party is and how very bad their opponents are. What do those (who sit not in the inner circle of which every party is a member) gain by this everlasting slandering of individuals? Valuable time which should be given to solving the problems of the province is wasted under the party system, as the party in power is doing its level best to stay there, and the other party is endeavoring to get them out as quickly as possible. As a neighbor of mine expressed it the other day, it was like two dogs with one bone, and the taxpayers of B.C. were the bone. Because the party system has been carried on for years it does not mean that it suits present conditions. Anyone who cares to give this subject his unbiased consideration must see that it is hopelessly out of date. The pending by-election means that a lot of valuable time and money that the province can ill afford to waste at this time will be used in an endeavor to elect one man to the Legislature. Everyone of the members should be doing his best to solve the problems that we have in B.C., and not waste his time in fighting either in or out of the House. Something better has to come, and a large number of taxpayers are determined that the party system shall come to an end. The men and women who are members of the Government Reform Movement, the movement which has come into existence through the virile and timely letters of T. Guy Sheppard seek the hearty co-operation of everyone who can see the need for a change in our system of government in B.C.

FINE MUSIC IS ON PROGRAMME

Seattle Symphony Orchestra
Will Offer Notable Selections on Friday

Special Afternoon Entertainment for Young People; Great Works in Evening

By G. J. D.

The programme to be given tomorrow afternoon and evening by the Seattle Symphony Orchestra have been selected by its conductor, Karl Krueger, with particular care.

"I have chosen the programmes with the desire to satisfy the largest number of your musical people whom I regard very highly," says Mr. Krueger in a letter.

The afternoon numbers are extremely pleasing, contrasting and popular, selected especially for young people who turned out in large numbers on the former visit of the orchestra.

The programme will open with a famous composition by a great French writer, Saint-Saens (1835-1921), "Le Carnaval des Animaux" (the Carnival of the Animals). It is full of musical expression, wealth of melody, and masterly in orchestration, which includes the charming tone picture, "Le Cygne" (The Swan).

Mendelssohn's "Nocturne Scherzo" is a beautiful composition, exquisite in the harmonies furnished by the cellos and basses, two flutes and the French horn, and is an example of Mendelssohn's genius.

Weber (1786-1826), son of a titled adventurer, and composer of the romantic opera "Der Freischutz" and "Euryanthe." The "Invitation to the Dance" is well known to pianists and is included in the repertoire of all orchestras and bands. It is vastly popular and rhythmic.

Mozart's "Minuet" is a perfect example of the minuet, perhaps, unequalled by any other composer. This number is especially faithful to the stately court dance of the time.

"Peer Gynt Suite," by Norway's greatest composer, Grieg, is especially known. In listening to this dance one is vividly reminded of the "Anitra Dance" of the suite. There are some fascinating effects to be heard.

Sir Edward German, distinguished English composer, will be represented with "Shepherd's Dance," one of the celebrated "Henry VIII Dances" which were commissioned by Henry Irving in 1892. It is particularly graceful.

"The Vienna Woods" is one of the celebrated and numerous waltzes of the "waltz king," Johann Strauss. As usual with all Strauss's waltzes, this has grace, refinement and musical substance.

The oboe solo, before the afternoon concluding number is a Ruthenian folk song, inscribed, "Heart's Delight." The oboist, George Tansor, is one of the finest players in America.

Sibelius (1865) is the distinguished Finnish composer. His "Finlandia" is known wherever an orchestra or band flourishes. This is really a tone-poem in which Sibelius pictures the beauty of Finland's scenery, combining the inner heart of his people, their struggles and pride of race, and their melancholy sadness.

EVENING PROGRAMME
There are four numbers in the evening programme, two of which will occupy alone, nearly eighty minutes.

Two will be heard for the first time in the city: Sir Edward Elgar's "Enigma" and Brahms's "Symphony No. 1 in C Minor."

The concert will open with Mozart's overture to his last opera, the famous "Magic Flute" (1791). The overture was completed for the coronation of Emperor Leopold II and was only written the night before the actual performance. A slow introduction precedes the main section of the overture. The solemn chords can be recognized as the same heard in the beginning of the invocation and the allegro is an elaborate fugue, the first violins giving out the subject. The harmony is heavenly and its science is wonderful. The finale is even more prodigious than that of Mozart's famous "Jupiter."

Debussy (1862). A remarkable prelude—the first work he wrote for orchestra—"L'Après-midi d'un Faune" ("The Afternoon of a Faun"). It has an individual style of instrumentation and was inspired by Stephane Mallarme's poem. A faun, simple and passionate, seeks in the forest at daybreak and tries to recall a previous afternoon's incidents. Did he receive an actual visit from nymphs and goddesses or was it all a vision? He does not know. The flute gives forth the principal theme, followed by the wood-winds, then the horn, the oboe, the clarinet in the dialogue. The cellos join in the refrain of the first theme and the melody dies away as though into the mist that surrounds the sleeping faun.

Elgar (1857) is the foremost living English composer. The "Enigma" variations first made him famous when Hans Richter conducted the work at Norwich Festival in 1899. It is the first opportunity to hear Sir Edward in one of his big works. His "Pomp and Circumstance" marches and vocal works are best known here.

Brahms's (1833-1897) "Symphony No. 1." Brahms's music began to come into its own about fourteen years ago. Today scarcely a programme appears without his name appearing on it. This symphony, as with all his symphonies, is approached with great seriousness and with a consciousness of the importance of it. The glowing slow movement reveals his greatness as a writer of simple melody and the final outpouring its vigor and vitality. There are some fine passages for the first violins in this work.

Large Audience
Hears Third of
J. G. Brown Talks

The audience in First United Church Tuesday evening to hear the third of a series of fine travelogues by J. G. Brown was the largest so far, and testified to the growing interest in these lectures. The mass of information was given by the lecturer in a graphic manner. Technical details were left out entirely. The pictures shown were works of art. The travelogue was especially interesting to people of English birth or descent, since the scenes were chiefly laid in southern England, Hampshire, Devon, Cornwall, Dorset, Somerset, Gloucester and Worcester, among the lovely dales and vales of southern Devon, the wild and rugged coast of Cornwall, quiet little havens of fishing villages, smugglers' haunts, cathedrals, castles and ruins.

The next travelogue, Tuesday, December 1, will deal with the great midlands of England from Birmingham to Edinburgh, including Burton on Trent, Derby, Chesterfield, Doncaster, Manchester, Leeds, York, Ripon, Darlington, Newcastle, Durham, the Scottish border country, the home of Scotland's greatest novelist, and Edinburgh, the heart of Scotland with its castle, its cathedral and the great Scottish National War Memorial.

heavy smoking. Then the penalty for indulgence. Digestive distress!

People who are haunted by this form of suffering simply have not learned its one common cause.

Usually, it's the fault of too much acid.

Meats, fish, breads, pastry can easily cause over-acidity, and this destroys the alkaline balance; food won't digest. They can't. Nothing ever tastes good. One cigar—and you are lousy as if you had smoked ten. Things you eat sour in the stomach, causing pain, flatulence. Your head aches, and you are constipated. These are danger signals! Warnings that you are in immediate need of an anti-acid! Heed them, and meet that need at once with a little Phillips' Milk of Magnesia.

A creamy, pleasant-tasting spoonful will neutralize many times its volume in harmful acid. But take it for several days, till the whole digestive system is sweetened. Until the appetite returns, and that sourness is all dispelled, and every sign of over-acidity has disappeared.

Doctors endorse Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. So be sure you get Phillips' and not a substitute. All drug stores in the Dominion have genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia in 50 cent bottles. (Made in Can.) (Advt.)

WESTERN W.M.S. RECEIVE PRAISE

Miss Evelyn Mitchell Speaks of Courage of Saskatchewan Women

London, Ont., Nov. 19.—"I wish every woman could meet these western women of our church," Miss Evelyn Mitchell, field secretary for the Dominion Board of the W.M.S. of the United Church of Canada, said in an address.

"They are the most wonderful workers in our church, with courage beyond anything, and they do not complain." Miss Mitchell told the story of her 13,000-mile travels through the dried-out areas in Saskatchewan, with a month spent in last summer in the district. While some say the reports are exaggerated, there is, however, nothing but desolation, with drifts of sand everywhere, and no water, and no hope of a crop until next fall," she stated.

"Ninety-eight per cent of the people are dependent on the community for help, and the community is already in debt to the extent of $170,000. The people can't give enough thanks to the church for what it has done for them."

Speaking specially to the Middlesex Presbytery, Miss Mitchell told of the appreciation of the northern Ontario people for the supplies sent. Rev. James Mackay, on the other hand, is reported as saying: "It seems ridiculous that we should be sending out carloads of vegetables to southern Saskatchewan, when in the northern portion of the province, potatoes are reported to be so plentiful that the farmers are leaving them to rot in the ground. It would be much better if we were to send our money to the people of southern Saskatchewan to purchase the plentiful supply of the farmers of northern Saskatchewan."

LAURA SECORD'S TEAPOT STILL IN USE IN FAMILY

Erin, Ont., Nov. 19.—Mrs. George Cook is the possessor of the town's most interesting and valuable relic of pioneer Canadian life, a teapot, once the property of Laura Secord. Descending from the family of Mary Ann DeForest, who married a brother-in-law of Laura, the teapot has passed from mother to daughter for four generations. None of the holders of the relic has parted with it during her lifetime, the daughter in each case receiving it as one of the most valued bequests of a mother. Mrs. Cook herself did not know of her mother's possession of the teapot until a serious illness of her mother threatened to prove fatal. The teapot has been used but seldom during the lifetime of any of the holders. The last occasion on which it was pressed into service was at a meeting of the Rockwood Women's Institute, whither it was conveyed by Mrs. Cook herself.

MUSICAL ARTS HEAR SOLOISTS

Mrs. Arthur Dowell and Miss Dorothy Morton Give Short Programme

Misfortune dogged the programme given yesterday afternoon at the Shrine Auditorium by the Victoria Musical Arts Society, for Thomas Kelsey was unable to appear to sing because of sickness, and Mrs. J. O. Cameron, the president, announced that she had been unsuccessful in securing the last-minute services of anyone.

This left only Mrs. Arthur Dowell, vocalist, and Miss Dorothy Morton, pianist, and the programme was necessarily short. Mrs. Dowell, who appeared first and sang the entire group of four songs, together with an encore, again gave careful interpretations of her numbers.

Her voice had a softness and restraint which was suited to her songs, but in her progression from Mozart's "Alceste" to Strauss's "Yesterday and To-day" this restraint was modified by a certain vigor, which revealed the flexibility and well-controlled range of her voice.

Mrs. Dowell does not strive after effect, but rather lets the songs speak for themselves. The other numbers, beside those of Mozart and Strauss, were "Pain Dream" (Dusidic), "Dawn, Gentle Flower" (Bennett) and "Chanson Provencale" (Ferial). The accompanist was Mrs. Paul Green.

Miss Dorothy Morton chose as her opening number Mozart's difficult "Pastorale Variations," but Miss Morton is very capable and her playing naturally called for an encore. This was the "Arietta" of Leonardo Leo.

Her next programmed number, "Eri King" (Schubert-Liszt), was in many ways her most successful. The emphatic chords of this stirring piece, with the quiet, contrasting notes interwoven at intervals, call for skillful playing. The music is very graphic and the applause that greeted Miss Morton when she had finished was a fitting testimonial to a fine performance.

Daughters of England—Princess Alexandra Lodge, Daughters of England, will hold a business meeting this evening in the Sons of England Hall for drill practice at 7.15 o'clock. Officers are asked to be on time.

Your Baby and Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

CARE IN PREPARING FORMULAS ESSENTIAL TO BABY'S HEALTH

The busy mother must conserve her time, but not to a point that is detrimental to baby's health. One of her daily duties is the preparation of baby's milk formulas. Time cannot be saved or carelessness tolerated when the baby's good health is at stake. Dirty bottles, carelessly washed, or dirty nipples, allowed to be used unsterilized or in a house where dust can fall upon them, are responsible for intestinal infection, as well as sore mouths, from which babies suffer so needlessly.

NECESSARY EQUIPMENT

All utensils used in the preparation of baby's formula should be kept for that use alone. The only utensils absolutely necessary to the ceremony are a glass or porcelain pitcher and a long-handled spoon with which the formula is mixed. Two measuring spoons, one for measuring the milk, a glass beaker marked in ounces for measuring the amounts, a bottle brush for cleansing bottles and nipples, and a good-sized pan in which bottles and nipples may be boiled daily. There should be one bottle and nipple for each of the daily feedings, and an extra one in case of breakage. Every utensil should be thoroughly scrubbed in soap suds, rinsed, and boiled every day. Keep them covered until they are ready to be used.

When the baby finishes his dinner, any leftover milk should be thrown away, the bottles rinsed in cold water, and left to be washed with the other bottles all at one time the next day. Right after breakfast is a convenient time. Wash each bottle with soap and a pan of cold water. When the water is boiling briskly, lift them out, and lay them on a clean towel. Keep covered until they are ready to be filled.

PREPARING FORMULA

Nipples should be easily reversible so that they too may be scrubbed on both sides, rinsed, and dipped into the boiling water for sterilization. Keep them in an empty, covered, glass jar, or in a solution of soda and water.

When preparing the formula, measure out several more ounces of milk than are called for in the formula. Boil for three minutes on top of the stove, stirring constantly. Measure milk into pitcher. Measure boiled water, add sugar to it, and stir until the sugar is dissolved. Add the water to the milk. If there is any scum, strain milk through absorbent cotton into the individual bottles. Cork the bottles or cover with rubber tops provided for this purpose. Naturally, these tops should have the same care as the feeding nipples. Put bottles in a pan of warm water. Let cold water run into this until milk is chilled, then put into the ice box. Keep there until, ready to heat, for the baby's feeding.

If all utensils for the preparation of baby's formula are kept in one convenient place, the task of making up the day's formula is cut to the minimum. The steps become automatic. Proper care of bottles and nipples, and of every object which might reach baby's mouth, is essential to the preservation of his excellent health. To-morrow—"The Wakeful Baby Is Almost Always a Hungry Baby."

PIONEER TELLS OF EARLY DAYS

Mrs. Fanny Lenoir of Halifax
Is Sister of Former B.C.
Premier

Canadian Press

Halifax, N.S., Nov. 19.—She might be called Halifax's "first lady." She remembers the arrival of the Marquis of Lorne to Canada as Governor-General in 1878, she can tell you about the growth of the Cunard steamship line, she saw the first automobile in the city, she enjoyed the talks on the opening night, and she was ninety-eight years young November 8, 1931. She is Mrs. Fanny Lenoir, nee Smythe, living at 26 Green Street.

Her memory is remarkable, her conversation thoroughly up-to-the-minute. No current event escapes her attention. With peculiar dignity, the little old lady welcomes many friends to her cheery, old-fashioned room and chats humbly. On her hundredth birthday her relatives in the United States are all coming to Halifax for a big celebration.

"I was born in Windsor, Nova Scotia," she told us. "And I've traveled through the United States and western Canada. It was always a dream of my brother's and mine to return to the old home in Windsor together. He was Premier of British Columbia for a brief period during the late 'eighties or 'nineties. But before the dream came true, he died."

From an old-fashioned highboy, Mrs. Lenoir produced souvenirs of her lifetime. There were faded pictures of herself, her husband and their two children, deep-set in ancient cases. "I'm the only one left," she remarked. There were gorgeous jewels, a gold filigree bracelet, hand-worked, enormous any-thing brooches with matching studs, rings and bracelets, dear little watches on long gold chains and lockets with tinted portraits in them.

She opened the closet door and for a few minutes was lost in its depths. When she reappeared, she carried a long, broad silk skirt over one arm and a white silk shawl over the other.

"I had this when I was married seventy-six years ago," she told us. It was in perfect condition. The brown sheen was as soft and glowing as it must have been in 1855. The sweeping train was a delight to our modern eyes.

She was laughing at us again. "Modern clothes are much nicer, I think," she turned to the closet again. "How do you like my new seal skin coat?"

YOUR CHILDREN

By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

NO. 1000 BY M.F.A. SERVICE INC.

Mothers continue to ask me about the care of the eyes. So I have hunted up a standard work on eyes. Here it is. Please read it and like it if you are feeling eye-minded at this minute.

"The eyeball with the lens is an optical instrument comparable with the photographic camera. It is fastened in a socket with muscles provided for mobility, and is connected with the brain by the optic nerve. Under ordinary conditions the eyes function in co-ordination supplying binocular vision. The conjunctiva is the mucous membrane covering the eyeball and inside of the eyelids. The sclera is the white; the cornea is the transparent portion of the eyeball (that protrudes in front). The iris is the colored part."

GUARD YOUR EYES

In fancy and childhood the eye is not wholly developed and is ill-adapted for distant vision—the delicate structures of the eyes are easily strained by close work—in early childhood up to the fifth year, the eye should not be subjected to any taxing effort. During school years great care should be taken that eyes are used properly.

Possible anatomic defects are: Far-sightedness—caused by short axis or flat eyeball. Near-sightedness—long axis. Astigmatism—unequal focus in the eyeball.

Characteristics of a healthy eye are: Eye is bright and clear. White is not suffused, reddened or jaundiced. Edges of lids show a healthy skin.

Eyestrain may be known by these symptoms: Congestion, inflammation, rawness. Crusted lids, scales at roots of eyelashes—called blepharitis. Itchy, crossed-eyes, squint, or eyes deviating from normal position. Itching, smarting, watering—or pain. Frowning and sensitiveness to light. Blurred or double vision. Headaches or irritability. Indigestion and dizziness. Body twitchings.

HOW TO TREAT EYESTRAIN

The treatment recommended is prompt consultation with a first class oculist. Glasses, if prescribed. Special attention to the diet in case of inflammation of the lids. Complete rest, then proper use of eyes.

Use of eyes too soon after recovering from a severe illness weakens and strains them. Eye muscles weaken as do other muscles in the body.

Diffused daylight, not too bright, is best when using the eyes. Light should come from behind or from one side, never from the front; for writing, from the left. The body should not be bent over a book. Glares and reflections should be avoided. One's own towel and soap and handkerchief should be used. Hands should be kept away from the face.

CHILD need REGULATING?

CASTORIA WILL
STRAIGHTEN HER OUT

Of course you are particular about the medicines you give your child. You want no harmful drugs, no narcotics in a child's medicine. When your child needs regulating, remember this: the organs of babies and children are delicate. Little bowels must be gently urged—never forced.

That's why Castoria is used by so many doctors and mothers. It is specially made for children's ailments. It contains nothing that can harm a child's tender organs.

Castoria is so mild you can safely give it to a young infant to ease colic pains. Yet, gentle as it is, it is unfailingly effective. Larger doses keep older children well regulated. And babies and children alike love its taste—never object to taking Castoria!

The next time your child has a little cold or fever, or a digestive upset, give him the help of Castoria, the children's remedy. The genuine Castoria always has the name, Chas. H. Fletcher, on the package.

SOCIAL, PERSONAL AND HOME INTERESTS

Gems of Peril
by HAZEL ROSS HAILEY

"You're crazy," Dirk rejoined mildly. "No, it was true enough. It was that count chap Ethel met in the speakeasy. She's been chasing him ragged. Finally she got him to say he'd come for the week-end. He made Connie tell him who the guests were to be. She had to read the list to him before he'd say he'd come. Rotten little snob. Can you beat it?"

"Well, why didn't he come, then? Did the Vanderbilts steal him or what?" She wasn't really interested, she wanted to believe that both Dirk and Connie if she could. This crazy jealousy that flamed up whenever she saw the two together or heard Dirk speak Connie's name was like a painful sickness. She wanted to be inoculated against it if possible. And perhaps it was true... a capricious houseguest like Ethel... a nameless emergency... and Connie always had depended on Dirk like a brother... perhaps there was no guilt there.

"She should have asked me, too, though," she was thinking rebelliously. "Oh, he's out of little Ethel's life for good," Dirk explained. "Called home to Argentina to settle his estate or something. She'll never see him again, and a darn good thing. Con's mother was worried sick for fear Ethel would elope with him."

He was holding her hand and stroking it gently with the other, just as he always did. Was it absent-mindedness, or had his stiffness melted for good? Mary relaxed happily against the pillows and listened, with only half her mind attentive to what Dirk was saying.

He looked down at her, smiling. "Too bad," he said. "He was so anxious to meet you, too."

"Meet me?" Mary sat up. "Sure, you Ethel took me aside and told me Connie never would have peeped. It made her furious, naturally. Ethel said when she came to your name on the guest-list, Count What's-His-Name wanted to know if you were the Miss Mary Harkness whose picture he had seen in the paper. She said you were, and what about it, and he began to kiss his fingers to the ceiling and exclaim, 'Ah, ravishing! Charmant!' and all that. And right away he said he'd come. Burned Ethel up but was glad to get him on any terms. He grinned down at her teasingly. 'You're got quite a rep, kid!'

Humanly, Mary smiled. It was rather delicious revenge to have had that happen to Connie. But then Connie had had her revenge by asking Dirk the score was even.

"She didn't ask me," Mary murmured, puzzled. "Was that why?"

"Well—no," Dirk flushed. Then he burst out: "What could I say? That we'd had a fight? I told her you'd gone to Hot Springs for a few days to rest. That was all. He asked me to fill in." He looked at her apologetically. "Takes somebody with a strong constitution to get along with Ethel. She has to be slugged every so often to keep her in her place."

Mary laughed. And you're the brute to do it," she agreed. "But who was this other chap? Somehow the episode did not ring entirely true... Something about it had set her to wondering. She looked at him with earnestly puckered brows. "It couldn't have gotten out about the new will leaving the Jupiter money to me, could it?"

Dirk's scornful gesture denied it entirely. "When was this invitation given, Friday?" Mary pursued thoughtfully. De Loma, De Loma—Where had she heard the name? "The Miss Harkness whose picture he had seen in the papers." That must have been those awful Friday stories about her and the Jupiter necklace. Suddenly she knew. De Loma was the name given in the racing papers as the owner of The Fly's horse, La Moca! Could it be the same man? Was De Loma The Fly?

CHAPTER XXVII

Mary was convinced beyond any doubt that the Count Enrique De Loma whom Ethel was infatuated with was The Fly. And Cornelia Tabor had barely missed having him in her home as a week-end guest!

It was frightful, and it was laughable. But most of all it opened up a new view of The Fly and his methods. So that was his game—tricking silly society girls with the old, old time racket. Whether his name was really De Loma did not matter, probably it was an alias. If so, it was a new one, for Bowden had searched police files for a record of a man by that name and found nothing. Also—and this gave her renewed heart for the chase—it was probably the name he would continue to use.

She dared not tell Dirk what she was thinking. He would think her utterly mad, looking for The Fly and finding him in every stranger who crossed her path. But there were some questions she simply had to ask.

"Did you see him at all—De Loma?"

"He didn't give Ethel his picture or anything?"

"No." Then he added peevishly, "What do you care anyway? Not going to fall for him, too, are you?"

She looked reproach at him. But the thoughtful pucker did not leave her brow.

"When did he call up and tell her he wasn't coming?"

"I don't think he did," Dirk answered after a moment's consideration. "I think she said he failed to show up, and when she called his usual hang-out they told her about his father dying and his having to go home to look after the estate. He looked at her. 'You think he just ran out on her? Maybe he did. But Lord, I'd go to South America myself to get away from that young catamount. No matter how many millions her dad's got.'"

"Did De Loma know that? About the millions, I mean?"

"Probably. I said he wasn't out to marry money," Dirk roused himself suddenly, crushed out his cigarette and put his arms around her. "But why are we talking about them, sweet-heart?" he said gently. "Why are we talking at all?"

Why, indeed, Mary thought happily after several blissful, speechless minutes. This was what she had been longing for, for days. How had she ever lived through them alone? She sighed deeply. Well, that was all over now. Then she remembered. Tomorrow she was going away! Her heart cried out against separation from Dirk again.

She clutched him tightly. "Come along with us," she begged. "I can't bear to go unless you do!"

Dirk stroked her hair gently. "You really want me?"

Her eyes answered him. "Better still," he suggested, "don't go. Stay here."

"Everything's ready. I've got to go. Besides, I've just learned some things that may be of great value. There's too much at stake now, Dirk. She turned toward him suddenly, an agony of pleading in her face. Dirk, don't you believe in what I'm trying to do at all?"

It was very still in the room, which was lighted only by dim wall brackets and the flicker of a small wood fire.

"I believe in you," Dirk said, presently. Mary's searching eyes saw his face contorted with the effort to speak fairly and plainly. "That is, when I'm with you. When I'm away from you, I get wild ideas. Other people's things, and it—hurts. I shouldn't listen, I know. But I do because it's you. His hand gripped her until her benumbed fingers ached with the pain. "You mean so much to me that the least breath—the least suspicion—"

He stopped and held his lower lip with his teeth like a man in physical pain.

Mary heaved a sigh. "What do they say?" she whispered.

"Oh, nothing that's true—at least, if it is I don't believe you realize it. I think you're perfectly innocent about it. That the Jupiter money has turned your head—that you're being nice to the old man just for what you can get out of him. God, if they knew about that will who's jabber there'd be! And of course that newspaper story about you last week was just about the last straw—coming right out with the intimation that you'd had the rotten bad taste to choose that horrible necklace..."

Mary was silent, stunned.

"There's nothing I can say," she faltered, as Dirk seemed to be waiting for some comment.

"My idea was," he went on, "for you to give out a statement—just a few lines, no more—denying it in a dignified way. It's too late to stop a lot of fools from gossiping over it, but it's the best you can do—now the harm's done. You'd have to say, of course, what it was you did choose—a ring or a pin or whatever it was, just for the sake of sentiment. It would help to quash this gold-digging notion about you that everybody seems to have."

Mary said "I couldn't do that, Dirk. I did choose the necklace."

Dirk said "Oh, Mary. It was almost a groan."

"It was bad taste but I need it. I have to have it. When The Fly's been caught with it, it can go to the bottom of the sea for all I care. Why you make so much of it, though, is beyond me."

"You're going to wear it, in public, where people can see it. He said it as if he were asking whether she meant to go out naked. Later, perhaps—but not now, surely."

"Now, if necessary. Whenever I must." She felt as if she must burst into uncontrollable laughter. "Dirk," she said, "this is the most ridiculous thing I ever heard of. It's such a little thing to cause such a big rumpus. And what's wrong with the Jupiter money? Don't you want me to have it?"

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

By SISTER MARY

Although the pudding sauce is secondary to the pudding itself, the sauce is an important factor and can do much to make or mar the dessert as a whole.

The mission of the sauce is to furnish any lack in the pudding and to emphasize the flavor of the pudding by contrast or delicacy of flavor.

The sauce has bearing upon the rest of the menu also, since a meal made up of rich foods should not be followed by an over-rich pudding sauce.

A baked pudding with a tendency toward dryness should be served with a liquid sauce. There are many varieties of liquid sauces, all of varying degrees of richness. "Standard" cream is an excellent liquid sauce of moderate richness that is suitable for many types of puddings.

Cooked sauces thickened with eggs are richer and of greater food value when thickened with cornstarch or flour and although the rule is arbitrary, egg sauces are usually served with chilled desserts.

Hard sauce, that rich concoction made of creamed butter and sugar, is particularly good with hot puddings. If they are not too rich of themselves, "Nun's Butter" is a form of hard sauce, less rich and heavy since less butter is used and cream is added to make a soft fluffy sauce.

Rich, sweet puddings are improved when they are served with a liquid sauce. The contrasting flavor and lack of butter, cream or eggs in the sauce brings out the best in the pudding.

Whipped cream is a popular sauce for puddings. It should be slightly sweetened but not made sweet enough to overpower the flavor of the pudding. Many puddings served with a liquid sauce are made more attractive if a garnish of whipped cream is added.

Flavorings should be added to hot sauces after they are thoroughly cooked and just before serving so that none of the taste is lost.

Very often the same pudding can be served equally well with any one of several different sauces.

Remember that the rule for thorough cooking of starches holds good in pudding sauces. If a sauce is thickened with flour or cornstarch it must be well cooked to make it palatable and digestible.

Lemon sauce is good with hot puddings of cake-like consistency and fruit toppings.

Lemon Sauce

Two cups granulated sugar, 1½ cups boiling water, 1 lemon, 2 tablespoons butter, few grains salt.

Mix sugar and cornstarch. Add boiling water slowly, stirring constantly. Bring to the boiling point and stir and cook for fifteen minutes. Remove from fire and add butter, grated rind and juice of lemon. Serve hot.

BEDTIME STORY

Uncle Wiggily's Red Apple

By HOWARD R. GARIS

Down at the end of Uncle Wiggily's garden, back of his hollow stump bungalow, there was a green field or meadow. In the meadow grew a tree and in summer the tree had on it pink and white blossoms.

After a while the blossoms fell off, after having sweetly perfumed the air, and in place of the flowers, there came tiny, green apples.

"But the apples will not always be green," Uncle Wiggily told his little rabbit children and the other animal girls and boys who looked hungrily for many green apples.

"The green apples will turn a beautiful red and you may eat some."

This had come to pass, just as the bunny gentleman had said, and during the summer that had passed—Jingle, Jangle, Baby Bunt, Jackie and Peetie, Bow Wow and Billie Wagtail had eaten many apples.

Mr. Stubbail climbed the tree.

Those apples which the animal children did not eat, Uncle Wiggily had gathered into the cellar under his bungalow.

"In the winter Nurse Jane will bake the apples for us," said Uncle Wiggily to his children.

"And I also will make apple pies," promised the muskrat lady housekeeper as she took a key out of the piano to unlock the front door. Buster, the funny boy rabbit, took the regular door key to open a can of molasses and he had forgotten to put it back.

But the piano key did very nicely. However, one day when Uncle Wiggily hopped to the door to get the piano key, he found it was gone and looked at the apple tree, he was surprised to see on the very topmost branch a splootch or bunch of red.

"I wonder what that red object is on my apple tree?" murmured Mr. Longears.

"I should think it might be a red apple," growled Mr. Stubbail, the jolly bear father of Neddie and Beckie, the bear children. "You would naturally expect an apple to grow on an apple tree, wouldn't you, Mr. Longears?" asked the bear who was out for a walk.

"Yes," Uncle Wiggily answered, "but I thought we picked all the apples off my tree."

"I must have missed this one," growled Mr. Stubbail. He did not growl because he was cross, or anything like that, but because growing is a natural way for a bear gentleman to talk.

"I suppose so," Uncle Wiggily said. "That red apple is so high up, and it was so hidden among the leaves, that I didn't notice it before. Now that Jack Frost has made all the leaves fall off my apple tree, I can see the red apple easily. But I wonder how I can get it down? It doesn't seem right to leave that poor, lone red apple on the tree when it will soon be cold and 'maw."

"If you wait a little longer," said Mr. Stubbail, "the red apple will fall off your tree, as many did before it, and you can then pick it up and eat it or have Nurse Jane bake it or make it into a pie."

"Yes, I can do that," agreed Uncle Wiggily. "But if that red apple falls off that high branch to the hard ground the apple will be bruised and broken and will soon rot. I wish I could climb up and pick that apple and save it for Thanksgiving. But I can't climb trees."

"How would you like me to climb the tree and get the apple for you?" asked Mr. Stubbail. "You know we bears are good climbers."

"Thank you," replied Uncle Wiggily with a low and polite bow of his pink, twinkling nose, "that will be very kind of you if it is not too much trouble."

"No trouble at all," growled Mr. Stubbail in his jolly way for he and the bunny were good friends.

So Mr. Stubbail climbed up into the apple tree and picked off the last, lone red apple, which was a very fine, large one.

Now while the bear gentleman was up in the tree and Uncle Wiggily was sitting under the tree over the meadow came running a Hunting Dog. Not knowing any better, the Hunting Dog thought Uncle Wiggily wanted to be hunted and chased. So at the rabbit sprang the dog growling and barking and saying: "I'll bite you!"

"Oh, please don't bite me! Help! Help!" cried Mr. Longears.

"I don't need any help to bite you," growled the Hunting Dog.

"Who will save me?" begged Uncle Wiggily.

"I will," bravely cried the voice of Mr. Stubbail, as the bear gentleman began climbing down with the red apple in his pocket.

"Poo! I'm not afraid of an apple tree!" laughed the Hunting Dog for, as yet, he could not see the bear. But all of a sudden Mr. Stubbail dropped down out of the tree, right in front of the dog and the bear gentleman growled so loudly and showed his sharp teeth and his sharp claws so the Hunting Dog was glad to run away, taking his tail with him between his legs.

"Thanks, Mr. Stubbail," spoke Mr. Longears. "You brought me a red apple and saved me from the dog. So the two were better friends than ever. And if the ice box will make a pair of rubber boots for the gas stove to play in the snow, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily's rabbit accoutrements."

OLD MORTGAGE SUIT IS LOST

Mrs. Levy's Claim Against
Buchan Singh Dated Back
To 1914

Attempts to collect a $600 mortgage, which since 1914 has grown to a debt of $1,800 because of compound interest, failed yesterday when Judge Lammiman threw out the suit of Eva Levy, widow of H. E. Levy, against Buchanan Singh. Buchanan Singh, who was defended by R. C. Lowe, testified he had never got the mortgage money, and the lot, which was on Shelburne street, was thrown up for taxes. He thought it must have been another Buchanan Singh who got the money, if it was paid, as there are a number of other Buchanan Singhs here.

P. R. Leighton, counsel for Mrs. Levy, claimed there was no doubt about the identity.

"I think there is great doubt as to the identity of the defendant, and he is entitled to the benefit of the doubt," said Judge Lammiman. "The matter dates back to 1914 and was not agitated for a long time before Mr. Levy's death. The defendant says he never got the $600, but it looks as if it had been paid. The money was not paid."

FRESHMEN TAKE OVER MEETING

Literary Society of Victoria
College Hear Interesting
Speeches

Members of the first year took over the meeting of the Victoria College Literary Society held at the college Tuesday evening. Cyril Chave, president, was in the chair.

Miss Winnifred Hartley spoke on "Ralph Connor." He was one of Canada's best-known authors, she stated, and there was a decided missionary spirit behind all his works. After a brief resume of his life, Miss Hartley analyzed his works. Things characteristic of all his works were the rapidity of action, the colorful incidents and the tense emotional situations. Most of his characters had three points in common, nobility of sacrifice, power of sympathy and radiating influence.

Alan Baker gave a witty and instructive speech on "Canadian Women Authors," tracing women in Canadian literature from the earliest times until today.

Miss E. Young spoke on "Dr. Henry Drummond," the great portrayer of the French-Canadian habitant. "No historian can reveal the French-Canadian to us as Dr. Drummond did," she said. "He has done more to unite the two nationalities in Canada than all the politicians and historians who have lived."

Tom Jackson reviewed "God in the Sun," a new book by Hugh Redwood. Miss Jeannette A. Cann, honorary president of the society, spoke briefly on the lecture.

Brian Burdon-Murphy rendered two pianoforte solos and P. Joubin related some of Bernard Shaw's witticisms.

STRAWBERRY VALE

The lecture, illustrated with pictures, which was held under the auspices of the A.P.A. of St. Columba Church recently, was very entertaining and enjoyable. These were given by Mr. Flinoff, who illustrated with pictures of the lumber industries of Vancouver Island and others entitled, "The Cradle of Civilization" and "The Holy City." E. Gray presided and several solos on the piano were contributed by Maurice Foster.

CEREMONIES AT TWO SAANICH HIGH SCHOOLS

Hon. J. Hinchliffe Formally
Opens Mt. Newton and Mt.
Douglas Schools

Mrs. Tolmie Presents Medal to Patricia Young at Afternoon Dedication

Hon. Joshua Hinchliffe, Minister of Education, officiated yesterday at ceremonies marking the official opening of two new high schools in Saanich.

A. G. Smith, M.A., principal of Mount Newton High School at Keating, presided at the afternoon ceremony and welcomed the minister and the large audience. The opening of the Mount Douglas High School at Cedar Hill took place in the evening, with B. Bailey, principal, as chairman and a large audience present.

At the Mount Newton School Mrs. S. P. Tolmie presented Miss Patricia Young, aged eleven, with the gold medal donated by Premier Tolmie for the youngest student to pass high school examinations last summer. High School entrance certificates were presented to students by the chairman of the School Board, Trustee F. V. Hobbs.

The opening ceremony at each school terminated with severance of a ribbon stretched across the hallway leading from the auditorium to the classrooms, accompanied by a formal declaration by the Minister of Education that the school was open.

At Keating Mr. Hinchliffe congratulated Saanich on completion of a portion of its programme for providing high school tuition. He hoped the method of attacking the problem would be highly successful.

Mr. Smith's view that the institution could only be successful if given wholehearted support by the community, and considered it incorporated modern features, was well lighted and heated and designed to aid the children in their work. "The building is just about as well suited to the work as can be imagined," he commented.

The minister congratulated the School Board on its staff of teachers, and remarked that the Department of Education set the course of instruction, which had greatly changed with the passing years. "Teachers have different methods of handling subjects, which in my childhood were nothing more than drudgery," he commented.

"Schools are not intended for character building, when the child goes to school at six or seven years his character is already formed. The school can only supplement training received in the home," Mr. Hinchliffe said, stressing the importance of home training in the building of character.

Education and schooling were not interchangeable terms. Education began long before schooling starts and continues long after you have left," he said.

"Until recently the high schools were out of touch with the child, who goes to school at six or seven years his character is already formed. The school can only supplement training received in the home," Mr. Hinchliffe said, stressing the importance of home training in the building of character.

OBJECTIVE CHANGED

Of late years the people had realized the need of change; a demand arose for training of students along the lines for which they were best suited. "Why try to make a school teacher of a boy with a bent towards mechanics?" he said, remarking on the difficulty of telling a fond mother that her son, who she hopes to see become a brilliant lawyer, is really a fine sewer digger.

The minister said it was a great injustice to a young man not to tell him the truth until the university authorities excluded him when he was in his twentieth year. This had been realized by the people, and two years ago the Department of Education expanded the courses offered and now provides training suited to individual needs, designed to be of use to life. "He can choose the studies of value to him, he never gets in the university, but he does get in the modern high school training of great value in the life he is to live," the Minister pointed out.

He asserted that the young people had a right to expect from their parents and teachers advice as to the objective towards which they were to work in high school, and urged that the responsibility be taken seriously in view of its importance.

END OF LONG STRUGGLE

Trustee Frank V. Hobbs, chairman of the Saanich School Board, reviewed the long struggle to provide secondary education in Saanich. The system of the lumber industry had not been the result of snap judgment and was expected to be among the most modern in the province. For many years the Saanich trustees had realized the wastefulness of the system and had welcomed the widened objective now offered students.

Mr. Hobbs thanked the Minister of Education for the special extra grant given Saanich, to enable the three school systems to be set up. He also thanked Mr. Hinchliffe for his address and Mrs. Tolmie for her presence.

WIDE INFLUENCE

Trustee H. L. Briggs said the new school had doubled the high school attendance of the surrounding district. The cost of equipping the school was $29,429, of which over $2,000 was caused by the federal government increasing gas tax. Transportation charges were over $4,300, nearby property had increased greatly in value. Setting up the high school system was also a factor in the large increase in home building in Saanich, notable in a period of general depression.

Trustee W. T. Jones said the Mt. Newton school was well designed, constructed and equipped, and told of the serious water problem which had been overcome. "You have got every cent's worth that you have paid for and a great deal more," he said, remarking on the first permanent character of the construction.

Trustee J. L. Brooks also spoke briefly, declaring the district was entitled to the school now provided.

Reeve William Crouch congratulated the Keating district and stressed the necessity of character building if the people were to continue to progress.

Rev. M. W. J. Bruce, president of the Saanich Board of Trade, urged the residents of the district to support the high school and its staff.

MOUNT DOUGLAS

At the evening ceremony at Mount Douglas School, addresses by Mr. Hinchliffe and the trustees were similar to those given at Mount Newton School in the afternoon.

Other speakers were: A. G. Lam-

NEW ORANGES NOW POUR IN

Produce Market Stocking Up
For Christmas; Mildness in East Cuts Egg Demand

Apple prices are unchanged, the Department of Agriculture reports today. Some fine Rome Beauties, in bulk, are coming in and selling at four cents per pound. Onion prices are still on the upward grade and are now $2.10 per sack wholesale. Potato prices are steady at $1.25 per bushel. Local lettuce is practically out of the market, and California and Walla products are selling from $4 to $5 per crate. Hot-house tomatoes, No. 1, $3 and No. 2, $2.50. The market is getting stocked up with goods for the Christmas trade.

Advices from prairie points are to the effect that owing to the reduction in size of poultry flocks there will not be many eggs for export even should the weather be as mild as last year.

ORANGES ARRIVE

California navel oranges are arriving much more plentifully now, and the quality is said to be improving, that is, the oranges have a higher sugar content.

Nearly 300 boxes of Japanese persimmons came in yesterday from the Empress of Russia, but are not moving freely. The Chinese boycott seems to be influencing sales.

Further increases in prices of feed stuffs may be expected.

Eggs have not moved in price for the past few days. It is reported that milder weather in the east has influenced earlier sales.

Vancouver egg prices to producers cases returned: Fresh extras, 35c; fresh firsts, 34c; pullets extra, 25c; peewees, 24c. FRUITS. Hinchliffe said: Light hens, 13c; heavy hens, 16c; light springs, 17c to 19c; heavy springs, 19c to 21c; young ducks, 16c. Hogs, country, 17c; prime, 18c; light to shipper, 7c; real, country dressed tops to shipper, 11c.

COUGAR BOUNTY AGAIN SLASHED

Government Cuts Payment to $20 a Head; Sheep Industry Concerned

The provincial bounty on cougars was yesterday cut to $20 a head, following a conference between Hon. J. W. Jones, Hon. R. H. Pooley and Hon. William Atkinson. Until a few months ago the bounty was $40, but for some time the province has paid $30 for each animal slain.

Cougars have caused much loss to sheep raisers on Vancouver Island. Skilled cougar hunters, equipped with trained dogs, have been attracted to the woods by the bounty. Hunters have made the sheep industry possible around Metchem and Cowichan.

The reduced bounty is expected to make the reduction of hunting the cats profitable. Sheep raisers are concerned that their work is feared that the cougars will multiply fast and set the island sheep industry back twenty years or more.

The game bounties provided in the Department of Agriculture estimates total $37,500, including $5 for timber wolves, a special bounty of $100 on coyotes, which has expired, and a price of ten cents for magpies.

The bounty fund is administered by the Game Board.

GOOD TEETH ARE VITAL TO HEALTH OF CHILDREN
 Provide Expectant Mothers With Special Diet to Help Make Strong Teeth for the Children.
 By DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN
 "Every child," says Dr. H. L. K. Shaw, "should have sound healthy teeth, and every child can have good teeth if we begin early enough to provide for them." The medical adviser helps to make stronger teeth for children by providing the expectant mother with an abundance of foods which are known to be important in building teeth. These include milk, vegetables, fruit and cereals, in which there are enough of vitamins A, C and D. Furthermore, modern medicine recognizes the necessity for having the mouth kept healthy during the expectant period. The prospective mother should visit her dentist regularly and see to it that decayed teeth, unhealthy or bleeding gums, or any kind of infection are properly taken care of. After a child is born it should have its mother's milk, if humanly possible. Dentists know that children who have been nursed by their mothers are more likely to have healthy teeth. The child who has been fed on artificial foods. Mother's milk contains the minerals and elements necessary for the growth and development of the teeth. The child who has been fed on artificial foods. PRAIRIE PLEDGES TO BANKS ARE DISCUSSED
 Canadian Press
 Winnipeg, Nov. 19.—Guarantees given by prairie province governments to the banks for advances made to the Wheat Pools, amounting to approximately $22,000,000, occupied the attention of government representatives and bank officials at a conference here yesterday morning.
 The meeting was presided over by E. E. Henderson, superintendent of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, who declared at the conclusion of the session that "only routine business had been discussed."
 Manitoba was represented by Premier Bracken, and Saskatchewan by Hon. M. A. Macpherson, K.C., Attorney-General. Premier J. E. Brown of Alberta was unable to attend.
 Under the guarantees of the three prairie governments to the banks, the obligation of each province is: Manitoba $30,000,000, Saskatchewan $12,000,000 and Alberta $5,000,000. The other $22,000,000 is distributed among the three provinces in odd figures.

Had Resided In City Half Century

Archibald Murray, retired contractor, and a resident of this city for nearly fifty years, passed away yesterday at his family residence, 1000 Park Boulevard, in his seventy-ninth year.

Mr. Murray was born in Peebles, Scotland, and came to Canada more than fifty years ago. For over forty years he made his home in Victoria. He is survived by three brothers, Alexander and Andrew Murray of Victoria, and R. B. Murray of Colwood. Two sisters, Miss Janet and Miss Margaret Murray.

Funeral services will be held on Saturday at 2 o'clock from Hayward's B.C. Funeral Chapel. Rev. A. de B. Owen officiating. Interment will be in Rose Bay Cemetery.

MASONIC RITES MARK FUNERAL OF D. NICHOLSON

Impressive funeral services were held at Hayward's B.C. Funeral Chapel yesterday for Daniel Nicholson, who passed away suddenly on Saturday at his home, corner of Cook and Collins streets, aged eighty years. Rev. Bruce Pringle officiated at the service, during which the hymn, "Nearer My God to Thee" was sung. Mrs. Harold Campbell sang the solo, "Saved by Grace."

Many beautiful flowers were received, and a large number of friends attended, including B. H. Garnett, J. L. Hayden and P. Connelley, representing the Pro Patria branch of the Canadian Legion, and members of the Masonic Order, who attended in a body.

The Masonic service at the graveside was conducted by the master of Camoan Lodge No. 60, A.P. and A.M., Bro. W. Wilson.

The following were honorary pallbearers: Dr. E. W. Book, A. A. Campbell, J. M. Campbell, T. F. Monaghan and Arthur Dodd. The following members of the Masonic Order were the active pallbearers: Rt. Wor. Bro. M. H. Taylor, Wor. Bros. J. D. Gillis, A. E. Allen and J. C. McNeill. Interment was in Royal Oak Burial Park.

Mr. Nicholson was born on Prince Edward Island and when thirty-five years of age, he, with his wife and two children, left his native province and took up his residence in Los Angeles, then a struggling little town of only few thousand inhabitants. Two years later he moved to Phoenix, Arizona, where he lived for more than thirty years. The late Mr. Nicholson founded one of the first banks in Phoenix and prospered in business with the growth and development of that frontier city. Some twenty years ago while on a pleasure trip up the Pacific Coast, Mr. Nicholson and family visited Victoria and were charmed with the natural beauty of this city. Later on they established a summer home here while they spent the winters in California. A few years ago Mr. and Mrs. Nicholson, with their two daughters, decided to make Victoria their permanent place of residence.

Mr. Nicholson leaves to mourn his death his widow, two daughters, Sadie, living at home, and Mrs. Arthur Dodd, of 1117 Faithful Street, Victoria, and a son, Arthur, of Los Angeles, who hastened to Victoria on word of his father's death.

CITY BEHIND IN TECHNICAL TRAINING WORK

Alderman A. Peden Tells Rotarians Victoria Needs Better Technical School

Jas. H. Beatty, M.P.P., Describes Work of Rotary Sessions in Chicago

"Victoria is far behind in technical education. If the opportunity again arises for the people to secure a technical school adequate to the needs of to-day, the ratepayers should deal with it more favorably than they have done in the past," Alderman Alex. Peden said this afternoon in the course of an address before the Rotary Club's weekly luncheon at the Empress Hotel.

"The time must come when, to start young men towards success in life, we must give them training along lines most valuable to them in the work they propose to undertake. There is no better economy than training of youths in the best methods of agriculture, craftsmanship, manufacturing and commerce," the speaker said.

Mr. Peden was supported by W. H. Binn, supervisor of night schools, in demonstrating work done by lads in the city's technical day and evening schools. Excellent examples of metal work and other woodwork were shown, and samples of metalworking attracted much attention. Mr. Peden stated that 170 lads were taking technical training in the day classes and eighty more were enrolled in the night schools.

The night classes this year were more popular than ever and over 130 more students were enrolled in the thirty-six courses offered.

UNIVERSITY NARROW

Mr. Peden considered that the university authorities were unfair to technical students in insisting that to obtain admission they must qualify in the usual courses as well as technical subjects.

"The time is coming when the universities will have to recognize practical education in commercial courses. Why should a specialist in carpentry be required to know French or history before being given admission? On the other hand, a potential lawyer or doctor should be required to qualify as a mechanic before being allowed to enter university and continue his progress towards his desired profession," he commented.

James H. Beatty told of the proceedings at Chicago of the North American Economic Advisory Council of Rotary, held on November 2 and 3. The objective had been to advise International President Sydney W. Pascall regarding ways to bring into effect his proposals for improving international relations by bettering commercial relations. Mr. Pascall came from London, England, to attend and had made many friends in the United States during his visit.

Mr. Beatty reported that all five members of the committee had been very cautious in their approach to such matters, having kept to the fore the view that they "must not take themselves too seriously." Similar caution regarding the influence of Rotary on the non-commercial attitude of the members. Mr. Beatty reported "we knew that immediately Britain went off the gold standard, a fine crop of technical experts sprouted."

The committee favored discussion by Rotary clubs of such matters as the effect of changing price levels, the effect the maintenance and raising of standards of living, especially in foreign lands, and the effect of commercial bribery and secret commissions. Discussion of hours of work, employment conditions and such matters as pensions, compensation and such matters was also recommended.

Mr. Beatty said the committee recommended that luncheons discuss the effects of tariffs on trade and international relations, being of the opinion that wider knowledge on such matters might produce much good and could do no harm.

Big Grain Grower Here For Winter

Completing a trip by motor across the prairies and the mountains, John Simpson has arrived here with his wife and family from their wheat lands north of Saskatoon. He is one of the largest grain growers in Saskatchewan. "In our northern area we had a big crop, with a yield of forty-four bushels to the acre on our own land," Mr. Simpson said. "But, cutting across southern Saskatchewan and Alberta, we went day after day through the belt in which they did not get any crop at all. Our wheat netted us 32 and 33 cents a bushel."

He said he and his family would remain in Victoria until next spring. They are at the Ritz Hotel.

Says Bishop Of London Scared British Voters

Brandon, Man., Nov. 19.—"Was the Bishop of London, on the eve of the last British election, warranted in saying that if the people elected the Labor government the English pound in a week would be worth ten shillings and in a month worth a penny?" Prof. W. F. Osborne of the University of Manitoba yesterday evening asked the United Farmers of Manitoba in convention here.

"The day may come," he said, in a momentary digression during an address on Russia, "when the Labor population of England may remember an ecclesiastic of high rank used the leverage of his profession to frighten the masses of Great Britain."

Move To Make Ryder Cup Golf Series World-wide Competition

THE Tournament Would Produce Undisputed MIRROR Champion of World

National League Hockey Teams Expected to Draw $3,500,000

Boston Is Expected to Top Circuit With Take of $800,000

Gate Money To Be Charged at Historic St. Andrews for First Time

Scottish Football Fans Getting Better Competition This Season

ACCORDING to an early estimate made by the powers that be the eight teams in the National Hockey League will play to $3,500,000 worth of fans this season. And some of the more optimistic club owners have set the total gate receipts as high as $4,000,000. Boston is sold out now for twenty-four home games, and it is certain that a new attendance record will be established this season.

The Montreal Canadiens have sold out their home games for $400,000. The Maroons are not sold out, but if they have a team up there with the leaders their take will total around $330,000. The Rangers and Americans both beat $700,000 last season in New York and both managements are optimistic about this year's prospects. Both expect substantial increases, for both figure their clubs will be right in the thick of the fray. Chicago Black Hawks are expected to draw well over $400,000 this season. The Toronto Maple Leafs played to $220,000 last season but this year, with their new $2,000,000 sports palace, the lowest estimate is $350,000. The Toronto club had practically a sell-out for their opening game against Chicago.

The reason the Boston Bruins never have any holdouts is that Manager Art Ross signs up every player right after the last game of each season. It will no doubt surprise hockey fans to know that Dave Trotter of the Montreal Maroons is the second highest paid player in major league hockey. Inside dope it is said that Trotter's contract is second only to that of Eddie Shore, spectacular defence star of Boston. Trotter signed when salaries were at their height and he drew a bargain that would have been a credit to a three-ball expert.

For the first time in the history of St. Andrews, where golf has been played for at least five centuries, gate money is to be charged to spectators who wish to see the championship play on the classic links next year. While the authorities have armed themselves with the necessary powers, the problem confronting them is how the links will be closed. It has been suggested that alterations to the course may become imperative, but British golf followers cannot imagine anyone daring to touch the links, a course which has even minutely, a touch through the ages. Tradition dies hard at St. Andrews and the majority would hate to see an inch of the links touched. In order to prevent a few people slipping on to the course without paying. The natural barrier provided by the Swilcan Burn and its bridges will be used to plan on the lines of Carnoustie and the Barry Burn, which worked so admirably in this year's British open championship.

For the first time in recent years Scottish football fans are getting a run for their money in the first division. The present season division. The English fans have usually witnessed keener competition in the senior circuit than the Scottish enthusiasts. In Scotland the trouble has been too much Celtic and Rangers. Not since 1904, twenty-seven years ago, has the Scottish League championship been won by another team than Celtic or Rangers. In 1904 Third Lanark were returned winners. This season Motherwell and Aberdeen are making competition for the two powerful teams with the former out on top and Aberdeen in third place.

Motherwell got out in front last season only to fall down badly before the finish and let the Rangers romp home. Other clubs have not the same chances as Rangers because the light blues have the money, but they should do as well as Celtic if they would adopt Celtic methods and rear their own players. The majority of teams seem to want to buy ready-made players. That is why Scottish football has suffered. If the teams would get back to work and develop future players less would be heard of Celtic and Rangers and more about the provincial clubs.

A keen race is being witnessed in the English First Division, with Everton, last year's Second Division champions, out in front by a two-point margin over West Bromwich Albion. Sheffield Wednesday and Arsenal, Sheffield league champions, are right in the thick of the battle, while Sheffield United, Rufford's Striking and Liverpool are all within striking distance of the leaders.

United States Professional Golfers' Association Appoints Committee to Study Plan; Pros From Canada, U.S., England, France, Germany, Japan, Argentine and Australia Would Enter; Top-notch Players to Take Part in Exhibition Series to Stimulate Game

Boston, Nov. 19.—A move to broaden the Ryder Cup golf matches between England and the United States into a world-wide competition similar to the Davis Cup tennis play was made yesterday during the closing session of the Professional Golfers' Association convention.

The proposal, made by George Sargent, former open champion from Columbus, Ohio, aroused such interest among the golfing delegates that they appointed a committee to study the subject.

Sargent pointed out that economic conditions might interfere with the next Ryder Cup matches two years hence, and that the cause of golf professionalism everywhere would be stimulated if professionals from France, Germany, Japan, Argentina, Canada, Australia as well as England and the United States could be provided with a competition, lasting from four days to a week, that would produce an undisputed world champion.

Another former champion, Gene Sarazen, filed a report covering his year's investigation of playing professional and the tournament end of the game. His findings resulted in the adoption of several resolutions. One authorized a committee to notify the United States Golf Association that the 1932 P.G.A. championship tournament would be advanced to December within two weeks of the national open play.

Another provided for a series of exhibitions, involving top-notch professionals, to raise funds for the maintenance of the association's tournament bureaus. These exhibitions, for which Sarazen offered his services, will be played in Los Angeles, San Antonio, Atlanta and two other golfing centres in advance of the National Open and P.G.A. tournaments.

Sponsors of the move to change the date of the P.G.A. play successfully argued that it would not only give the winner more opportunity for capitalizing his victory but would also enable professionals from distant points to combine their championship and National Open competition on one trip, at a huge saving in traveling expenses.

The convention paid its tribute to Bobby Jones by electing him to membership and making him an honorary vice-president.

These honors, however, will not make Bobby eligible to play in the P.G.A. tournaments, as the association's eligibility rule requiring three years' apprenticeship to a professional was unchanged.

HOCKEY

IT'S SUCCESSFUL—SOMETIMES. Eddie Goodfellow, scoring ace of the Detroit Cougars, is always a threat when he is on the ice. Particularly so if the Cougars can ever get going with what they are pleased to call the Triple Pass play. The play can only be worked when the opposing forward line is left flat-footed inside the Cougars' blue line. Goodfellow, carrying the puck at centre, breaks just before centre ice is reached, he crosses over toward the right boards leaving the puck for the right winger, who carries the puck down the centre almost to the opposing blue line, where he in turn passes back to left wing. The right wing then crosses in front of the left wing man just outside of the blue line and draws the defence, while left wing man shoots puck to Goodfellow, who is now on the right boards, Eddie making sure, of course, that he is not across the line before he passes. Thus, as the right wing barges by the defence without the puck, the defence turn their attention to the left wing, who has gotten rid of it, leaving Goodfellow with the puck and the right winger inside the defence and on top of the goalie. It works—sometimes. But it takes a speedy forward line. If it clicks, it is all over in about the same time it takes to read this.

THOMAS HICKEY HEADS LEAGUE

Re-elected President of American Association Baseball After Bitter Fight

Chicago, Nov. 19.—Thomas J. Hickey yesterday was re-elected president of the American Association of Professional Baseball Clubs for a one-year term. The re-election was announced as unanimous.

The veteran leader of the class "AA" league won out after a two-day deadlock, which found the vote tied. Minneapolis, St. Paul, Louisville and Columbus opposed his re-election, while the others, Toledo, Kansas City, Indianapolis and Milwaukee, voted for him. After failing to break the deadlock, he was given a year's term by a unanimous vote.

The association leaders named two of their number to investigate the tangled finances of the Toledo club with a view toward rehabilitation. The sharp downward revision of salaries was voted by the club owners to go into effect on new contracts next season.

When the Fifth Regiment clashes with the James Bay Athletic Association at Oak Bay Park in one of Saturday's two senior rugby battles, Bill Ellis will handle the whistle. The other, Toledo, Kansas City, Indianapolis and Milwaukee, voted for him. After failing to break the deadlock, he was given a year's term by a unanimous vote.

Hudson's Bay Beat Sailors and Cinch Hayward Cup Series

Store Footballers Score 2 to 1 Over Navy to Gain Possession of Wednesday League Trophy; John Taylor Drives Home Winning Goal in Second Half; Garrison and Saanich United Draw 2 to 2

Scoring a 2-to-1 victory over the Navy footballers at the Royal Athletic Park yesterday afternoon the Hudson's Bay Wednesday League eleven cinched the Hayward Cup series. In the second game Saanich United and the Garrison battled to a 2 to 2 at Beacon Hill. The Navy were winners of the trophy last season. The final games of the competition will be played next week but the outcome will not affect the standing as the best the Garrison and Navy can do is finish within one point of the departmentals.

John Taylor's goal in the early stages of the second half gave the Bays their one-goal victory. Playing with the wind at their backs in the initial half the Navy had a decided edge on the play in the opening twenty minutes. MacKenzie and Menzies, the Bays' backs, were hard pressed to keep the Navy's attack from getting into the goal. The Navy were forced to block a number of hard drives.

After half an hour's play the Navy went into the lead when Walker rushed into the goal holding the goal. He saved and after forcing the ball from the goal he rolled into the net. One goal down, the Bays took up the attack and managed to tie the score before half time when Don Pitt rushed in to beat Barker just as Whyte, at fullback, was in the act of clearing. Half time found the teams still in a deadlock.

In the early minutes of the second half the Bays took the lead when Taylor beat Barker with a bullet drive from right wing. In the lead the Bays continued to bombard the Navy goal but were unable to beat Barker again. Johnson refereed.

The teams follow: Hudson's Bay—Shrimpton, McKenzie, Menzies, Oakman, Woodley, Cull, Taylor, Fish, Small, Armstrong and Newell. Navy—Barker, Whyte, Hibbert, Roberts, Robinson, Fittall, Coster, Cleave, Marr, Walker and Wilson.

At Beacon Hill the Garrison and Saanich put up an interesting struggle, with the latter club holding the edge throughout. The players were hampered by the high wind that swept the field, making good ball control impossible.

Early in the game Saanich took the lead on a fine goal by Bobby Burns, lead on a fine goal by Bobby Burns, lead on a fine goal by Bobby Burns.

The Garrison returned play to the other end of the field and Richard drove home the tying goal. The third goal came a few minutes before half time when Edwards' shot glanced off one of the Saanich players into the United net.

TOOBY SCORES The Saanich eleven dominated play for the first half hour of the second half and during this strong offensive managed to tie the score on Tooby's goal. The Garrison managed to score a goal just before time but it was disallowed by the referee on the grounds the ball had bounced out of play before the ball was netted.

Alcock refereed. The teams follow: Garrison—Glendinning, Linsley, Burns, Scanlon, Henderson, McAllister, S. J. A. A. fixture at the Mount Tolmie of 19 30 2.

Speedy Left-winger Drives Home Counter in Third Period and National Hockey League Game Between Leafs and Chicago Black Hawks Ends in 1-to-1 Deadlock; New York Rangers and Boston Red Sox Rivalry To-night; Detroit Falcons Oppose Maroon

Toronto, Nov. 19.—A sparkling solo rush by Harold Cotton, speedy left winger, and a beautiful shot which eluded Gardiner pads, gave Toronto Maple Leafs a 1-to-1 draw with Chicago Black Hawks in the only scheduled National Hockey League fixture in the Windy City yesterday evening.

Bagging a counter late in the second period when Vic Ripley let go with a bullet drive from the blue line which got past Chabot, the Hawks' lead was short lived as twenty seconds after the final frame got under way Cotton skated the length of the ice, circled the Black Hawk defence and went in to beat Gardiner. Both squads tried hard to score the winning tally during the remainder of the period but in the overtime session play dropped off a bit and each seemed to be content with a draw.

With three of their forty-four-game schedule already completed the Toronto entry have yet to win a league game this season. However, they have gathered two points, drawing with Chicago and Canadians.

The other carded attraction is a down for decision in Detroit when Maroons battle Falcons.

Chicago—Gardiner, Wentworth, Abel, Ripley, Lowery, Thompson, Subb, Bostrom, March, Couture, Miller, Cook, Grah, Gottlieb, Adams, Romnes. Officials—Smetton and Cameson.

New York N.Y., Nov. 19.—The Bronx Tigers, newest addition to the Canadian-American Hockey league, made their debut yesterday evening before 5,000 spectators and, like most hockey newcomers, took it on the chin. The Boston Bruin Cubs won the opening game at the Coliseum, 4 to 0.

The Tigers, a hastily-assembled team and lacking in practice, were outplayed throughout. The Cubs scored one goal in the first period, another in the second and two in the last. The marksmen were Burke, Klein, Foster and Koski.

Chocolate Now Being Picked to Beat Canzoneri in Title Bout To-morrow

Three Titles Most Likely at Stake; Singer Says Tony Must Win Early

New York, Nov. 19.—A real championship was in sight to-day as Tony Canzoneri and Kid Chocolate waited for their fifteen-round fight in Madison Square Garden to-morrow night, which may see three titles go on the block.

Tony holds the synthetic junior welterweight crown as well as the lightweight title, which is the object of the battle, and will risk the both. In return, it seems likely that he will get a chance at the junior lightweight championship, which Chocolate won from Benny Bass short time ago.

Canzoneri tipped the scales at 131 pounds, when he completed his last workout in preparation for the fight yesterday. He planned light workout, which he said, would bring him below the junior lightweight limit of 135 pounds.

The New York Italian has been slight favorite, but public opinion seems to be swinging toward the Cuban "Kid".

At Singer, who has fought the both, said Canzoneri must stop his rival inside of five rounds or he will lose the decision to the clever Cuban boxer.

Wheat Prices Gain In All Months On Moderate Support

Canadian Press
Winnipeg, Nov. 19.—Reversing its course of yesterday, wheat prices advanced in the Winnipeg Grain Exchange to-day and closed with gains of from 1 1/2 to 1 3/4 cents.

November and December each advanced 1 1/2 to 65 1/2 and 67 1/2, respectively, while May and July each were 1 1/2 cents stronger—May at 70 1/2 and July 70 1/2.

Steady cables, light offerings and moderate support from United States upward swing which one time showed interests were the chief factors in the gains of 1 1/2 cents. Minor profit-taking subsequently slightly offset the rise.

The market generally was more active than yesterday when prices tumbled sharply backward. There were appreciable purchases of Winnipeg May wheat against sales of the corresponding future at Chicago, the five cent spread between the two months apparently proving the incentive for buying in this direction.

Advices from Argentina confirmed damage to new crops there as the result of frost and other unfavorable weather conditions.

There was a good demand for various grades of red spring wheat, with exporters, shippers and millers the best buyers.

Moderate exports of barley and feed oats also were reported.

Chicago, Nov. 19.—The wheat market opened early on better cables and confirmation of Argentine damage eased off later on reports of scattered rains in western Kansas and again turned strong later in the day with final figures showing gains of around 1 1/2 cents over previous close.

Liverpool closed 1/2 to 3/4 up. Final official German crop report made the wheat crop at 169,000 bushels, but some private reports think this too high. Export business in general was light. Winnipeg followed our advance and reported fair class of buying. The situation in the Far East is regarded as critical.

Russian shipments were larger than last week, but not by much. There were less than half those of a year ago when they were 6,344,000 bushels. Primary arrivals were 660,000 bushels vs. 1,183,000 a year ago. This is significant and shows that country holders are not anxious to sell at this time in spite of higher prices.

The first advance in wheat brought about a heavy offering that the last two weeks country offerings have been small and cash interests in southwest say it is difficult to buy wheat to replace any that is sold. A Canadian wheat report is significant saying that October precipitation was 65 per cent below normal in southern Alberta, 40 per cent below in southern Saskatchewan and 70 per cent deficient in northern Saskatchewan, which was dry during the summer. Conditions in general are about average for the investor who takes comfort in the fact that the market is a long time in coming back to normal.

Corn: Iowa industries were reported bidding for cash corn at Chicago to-day, which is decidedly unusual. It is also significant that with the crop much larger than last year, primary receipts to-day were about half those of last year at 316,000 bushels. Local receipts were 14,000 bushels vs. 4,955,000 bushels a year ago, and it is a remarkable thing that as Argentine shipped enormous quantities wheat after week since April, that Russia has made no complaint but has absorbed these tremendous exports without a murmur. This would confirm that the feed grain situation abroad is strong.

Outside cash markets report relatively high cash prices with small country offerings. Cash sales 43,000 bushels and country sales 27,000 bushels. Unsettled weather is indicated to be followed by colder conditions.

Oats: Rallied with other grains, scoring moderate gains. The cash demand was only fair with sales 35,000 bushels, but there is no big run of oats anywhere and the consumptive demand is generally supposed to be good. Think purchases are in order on all setbacks.

Famous Football Stars Play In Capitol Story

"The Spirit of Notre Dame" Is Dramatic Story of College Life; Famous "Four Horsemen" of Noted
College Have Roles With Lew Ayres in Lead

"The Spirit of Notre Dame," Universal picture, opened at the Capitol Theatre to-day.
Devotees of the gridiron sport will undoubtedly be filled with the wild-eyed enthusiasm that comes from a hard-fought game, for this picture is a real football with real football players. The picture stars Lew Ayres, as a country boy just entering Notre Dame University, and later, in his junior year, becoming the ball-carrying hero of the team. But there arises a situation which interferes with these plans, and eventually brings the young football star to a point where he forgets the spirit animating the team, and becomes an outcast in the eyes of his fellow players.
The entire production is filled with the spirit of football, and the sportsmanship that builds championship teams, and the cast comprises some of the greatest players in the history developed by the late Coach Knute Rockne at Notre Dame. These include Frank Carideo, twice all-American quarterback, "The Four Horsemen," Moon Mullins, John Law, Adam Walsh, Al Howard, Bucky O'Connor, Art MacManmon and many other noted players.

VARIETY IN "ROBIN HOOD"

Fine Singing and Acting,
Colorful Costumes and Picturesque Settings

Light opera, when the characters and plot are particularly familiar to the audience, is usually delightful. The romantic glamor of Robin Hood and his merry men readily captivates the imagination. This just and skillful outlay of valiant bearing, Friar Tuck, lovable and trustworthy; sweet Maid Marian, maid of the forest, are all delightful. To see them portrayed with the music and fantasy of opera is a pleasure they have always given.
The green garb of the foresters in a Sherwood Forest setting, and the picturesque costumes of the Richard I period, worn about the streets of Nottingham or surrounding the sheriff at his castle, as arranged by the costume designer, serve to elaborate and not detract from the pleasant picture of Robin Hood.
Sparkling dialogue, pretty music and charming situations in Reginald de Koven's opera, "Robin Hood," one of the most popular comic operas of the day. It will be presented at the Royal Victoria Theatre on Friday and Saturday evenings, November 27 and 28.
"Brown October Ale" is a rousing number. There are many such pieces in the score. The "Tinkles" sung by the men of the Victoria Operatic Society, is also fine. "O Promise Me," a lovely melody (interpolated after the score was written) used for years to speed the happy bride, is always received with tumultuous applause. This will be sung by Allan-a-Dale.

Buck Jones Playing At Columbia Theatre In Western Feature

Famous Cowboy Actor and His Equally Famous Horse
Star in "Branded"

When Buck Jones' little daughter, Maxine, visited him on location during the filming of "Branded," his latest western for Columbia, showing to-day at the Columbia Theatre, she brought her own little cowboy pony Rex. Seeing Rex and Silver, Buck Jones' famous horse, together one day, the still camera man conceived the idea of taking their picture. Maxine led Rex into range, Buck placed Silver beside him, and the photographer prepared to make the shot. But . . . just before he pulled the string, Maxine called a halt. When Buck wanted to know why, she declared that Silver, being camerawise, was trying to crowd Rex out of the picture. And that is one of the rare cases of equine professional jealousy.

DOMINION THEATRE

What Kay Francis considers one of the most ironic assignments of her picture career, occurred during the making of "24 Hours," Paramount film edited by Louis Bromfield's intriguing novel and magazine serial, now showing at the Dominion Theatre. With the "temperature" hovering around ninety degrees at the Paramount Hollywood studios, Miss Francis was required to light the logs in a fireplace and warm her hands as she destroyed bundles of love letters in one scene.
The actress was thankful, however, that the temperature on the large concrete sound stage was about twenty degrees cooler than outside.
Clive Brook, Marjorie Hopkins and Regis Toomey share featured honors with Miss Francis in the picture version of Bromfield's mystery novel of tangled lives in modern New York.

ZONING PLAN FOR ESQUIMALT

Suggested By Trade Board to Stop Erection of Shacks

A proposal to ask the Esquimalt Council to amend its present building by-law to prevent the erection of shacks in residential areas was broached at the meeting of the Esquimalt Board of Trade in the parish hall yesterday evening. After preliminary consideration the proposal was laid on the table for further consideration at the board's regular meeting in December.
Regret was expressed at the meeting over the apparent lack of interest in the board's campaign for new members. It was remarked, however, that several other meetings drawing heavily from Esquimalt were being held yesterday evening and several people who had intended to attend the board's gatherings were consequently unable to come.
The need for public support was stressed by Frank Cooke, president, in addressing the gathering.
Formation of a debating club which would interest the young men of the district was suggested. Major A. A. Warder stated he would investigate the possibilities of forming such a group and report back later to the board.
The meeting decided to continue its membership drive.

GREAT ROLES TO BE SEEN

V. L. Granville to Present
"Dramatic Interludes" at City Temple Monday

With the coming to Victoria of V. L. Granville, noted English actor, students of the drama, of acting and of public speaking, will have an opportunity of studying the best in dramatic acting.
Mr. Granville will appear in a programme entitled "Dramatic Interludes" which comprises an interpretation, in full costume and make-up, of the great roles of the drama, ancient and modern. A particularly interesting feature of his programme is that all of his changes of costume and make-up are made on the stage in full view of his audience.
One newspaper says of him: "V. L. Granville's recital proved a scholarly and fascinating entertainment, spanning the drama of the ages in one brief spellbound afternoon. Together, Mr. Granville's handsome presence, clear enunciation and splendid dramatic sense formed an unforgettable and supremely fine review."
"Dramatic Interludes" will be presented at the City Temple auditorium next Monday.
